I have been advised by the J.A.G. that the United States authorities are conducting parallel enquiries in relation to gross ill-treatment of Pows during transit from Staling Luft VI to Staling Luft IV, which have formed the subject of the above charges.

2. The American file apparently contains a great deal more evidence than we have been able to procure, and in consequence it has been decided by the J.A.G. that the U.S. Deputy Theater Judge Advocate is in a more satisfactory position to assure that justice be done. It has therefore been agreed that the above cases should be taken over by the American authorities, and accordingly all original evidence and information available in this case has been handed to the U.S. Deputy Theater Judge Advocate's office.

3. The accused will be dealt with in one case, your reference for which is 13/815/1/4.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

PARK/DSC

6th. I/c War Crimes Branch

PARTICULARS OF ALLEGED CRIME

a. Enroute from YE EL to SCHWEINMEUNDE, Germany, a trip was made by boat. At least a thousand men were packed into the hold of the boat so that no one could move or sit down. One man at a time was allowed to go on deck for air and to obtain water for the rest of the men in the hold. They were forced to drink this water from the same bucket that they used in urinating. The only food provided was from Red Cross packages. On arriving at SCHWEINMEUNDE, the United States prisoners of war were handcuffed in pairs despite the protests of Technical Sergeant Francis S. PAULO who was the man of confidence.

b. On arriving at the station at GROSSTYCHOW, the men were lined up still handcuffed and carrying their baggage. Captain PICKARD, who was in charge of the guard, ordered them to double time to Stalag Luft IV which is approximately four kilometers from the station and mostly up hill. The route was covered by German guards, located in trees and along the line of march and who were armed with all sorts of weapons. Captain PICKARD rode up and down the column on a bicycle calling off the names of various German cities which had been bombed and telling the guards that the prisoners were "Luft" gagster who were responsible for the bombing of their homes and the killing of their loved ones. Because of the pace many of the men were forced to drop their baggage and Red Cross parcels, and those who did not had them cut from their backs by the guards' bayonets. Whenever a prisoner dropped out he was bayonetted and police dogs set on him who bit him. Approximately 150 men were wounded by either bayonet or dog bite. One man had more than 60 wounds in his back, legs and buttocks. The prisoners were also struck with rifle butts and one man lost his eyesight as a result of this mistreatment. An aid man, wearing Red Cross insignia, was savagely attacked while attempting to aid a prisoner of war who had collapsed. His medical equipment carried in a white bag marked with the Red Cross insignia was smashed with blows from rifle butts and he himself suffered from bayonet wounds. This occurred on 18 July 1944. There were other similar "runs" on August and 5 August 1944 when the conditions were the same as described above.

c. At Stalag IV, the men were constantly in fear of the guards. Oberfeldwebel Hans SOMZID, struck the men with his hands and also struck them using a stick with a nail in the end of it. Shortly after arriving at Stalag IV, the men were searched and about every second man was beaten with rifle butts. Captain PICKARD, during air raids would shoot into the barracks but fortunately no one was injured.

There are many victims in this case who are identified and whose sworn statements are included in the files of this Branch. The victims were United States, Canadian and British prisoners of war.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 15 February 1945, an unarmed, surrendered United States airman was brought into BENSHEIM Gestapo Headquarters by two unknown armed German gendarmes. The American was taken to the office of Untersturmfuehrer Albert DEGLER. DEGLER, STATTMANN and RAAF were then called into the office of Fritz GIRKE. After about one and a half hours, the American was seen to leave BENSHEIM Gestapo Headquarters accompanied by Michael RAAF and Karl Franz STATTMANN, who were armed. About forty-five minutes later, RAAF and STATTMANN returned to Gestapo Headquarters without the flyer. STATTMANN confessed that he and RAAF each fired a shot into the body of the flyer, killing him instantly; that the American was killed upon orders received by him from HELSENBRIOCH. HELSENBRIOCH stated that GIRKE had ordered the American killed. STATTMANN, after killing the flyer, reported the facts to HELSENBRIOCH first, and then to GIRKE.

Short Statement of Facts.

Sometime in August 1944, an American aviator, after parachuting to earth, was captured near BORSDORF, Germany. As he was being conducted to unit headquarters by a German non-commissioned officer, victim was slapped several times by civilians Kurt DAWIDZAK, Ehregott BERNHARDT and Kurt BERNECK. The German non-commissioned officer pushed them away and told them not to hit the aviator, but they persisted. It does not appear that the victim was injured as a result of the assault.

The victim has not been identified, other than the fact that he was an American.

On or about 2000 hours, 27 September 1944, Donald E. RENZ, ASN 0747750, an American flier, who was then unarmed, surrendered prisoner of war in the immediate custody of Georg SCHULTHEISS, a German Army sergeant, was brought to a restaurant in REDA, Germany. SCHULTHEISS left RENZ in the custody of others for about fifteen minutes, then returned and departed with RENZ for REDA, Germany. On the outskirts of REDA he was joined by Nicolas ELLENBERGER. From there the three walked along the road in the direction of REDA, Germany, SCHULTHEISS being about two yards behind RENZ and ELLENBERGER, who were walking together. About 2100 hours, while walking down the road, RENZ made an effort to talk to ELLENBERGER, who was about one yard from him. RENZ attempted to get closer to talk but ELLENBERGER kept the same distance between them. RENZ then turned around, facing Sgt. SCHULTHEISS and spoke some words. SCHULTHEISS then fired at RENZ with his pistol, the shot striking the American flier in the left temple, killing him instantly. ELLENBERGER and SCHULTHEISS placed the flier's body near the edge of the road and returned to REDA. On the following day SCHULTHEISS advised the Bürgermeister he had killed the flier because he made an attempt to attack him. ELLENBERGER was an eye-witness to the shooting, was unarmed, and there is no evidence to indicate that he had conspired with SCHULTHEISS to kill the victim Donald E. RENZ.

The body of the victim has been exhumed and identification of the flier as Donald E. RENZ, ASN 0747750, was established.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 28 September 1944 an American aviator parachuted from his plane near BURGDORF, Germany. The airman upon landing was uninjured and surrendered to local authorities. Thereafter two Germans, Emil KONTRIDGEF and Albert LAUER, took the flyer into the country and shot and killed him. His body was buried in the local cemetery at BURGDORF.

The victim has not been definitely identified, but he is believed to be an American aviator named Robert H. PETERSEN. This tentative identification is based on the name stamped on an identification tag at the grave.

SCHOSSER, Anton, & 2 Others

Schaper has not answered the charge.
On 20 July 1944, six American fliers parachuted from a disabled plane, landing near Looosinning, Germany. One was killed when his parachute failed to open. Of the five survivors, Arthur W. MARSH, 445-2885790 - correctness of the number is not established - and another were taken to the police station at that town. Three civilians members of the Nazi party - Anton SCHÖSSER, Josef GOLDLÜNER and Alfons Jacob WIM - the three accused, demanded custody of the two fliers. After a telephone clearance with a German lieutenant colonel at the Erftling flying field, MARSH, the victim, was turned over to the custody of these three civilians who departed with him for the express purpose of exhibiting the flier to the villagers at Looosinning. MARSH, WIM and SCHÖSSER proceeded on foot while GOLDLÜNER followed in an automobile. After proceeding for some 100 meters, SCHÖSSER fired several shots into MARSH, who fell wounded. SCHÖSSER then killed him with a second volley of shots with a French LEF, which had been in the car. The victim's body was rolled into the canal by one or all of the accused and SCHÖSSER reported at 8:00 a.m. that MARSH had been shot while attempting to escape.

COLDRUNNER and WILK, in affidavits, have stated SCROSSE fired the shots which killed MANOCH. Except for their presence at the scene, and their part in demanding that Scrosse have the custody of the victim for the ostensible purpose of parading him before the local villagers and their possible assistance in rolling the body of the victim in the canal, there is no other evidence to connect them with the killing. It is believed the evidence is sufficient to implicate them in the conspiracy.

Short Statement of Facts

On or about 28 July 1944, an American bomber was shot down and crashed in the vicinity of Baurwein, Germany. As the plane plunged earthward its occupants were seen to bail out. One of the airmen, believed to be Peter Mandros, Jr., A2N C-718517, was taken prisoner by Richard Keller, a civilian, and delivered to the Bürgermeister's office in Baurwein. SA Standartenführer Willi Rieke and SA Obertruppführer Karl Schenk took the airman in custody, and drove away with him in the direction of Friedberg, Germany. En route, the car was stopped; the flyer was taken out and shot by Rieke. Schenk aided and abetted in the commission of the crime. The dead airman was then thrown onto a truck and taken to the cemetery in Friedberg for burial.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 16 November 1944, Josef Hangobi killed Lieutenant Morris Caust, 0723579, AC, a member of the United States Army Air Force, who was unarmed and had parachuted from a disabled plane.

SOURCE: War Crimes Branch, United States Forces, European Theater (War Crimes Branch No. 5-67, Caust (V), and No. 5-72 (Caust (V)).
On or about 16 November 1944, at about 1400 hours, an American aviator—one Lieutenant MORRIS CAUST—parachuted from his disabled plane to safety in the vicinity of Lamprechtshausen, Austria. JOSEF HANGOBL, the perpetrator of the crime, upon being notified by a little girl that a paratrooper was in a nearby field, proceeded to a point within seventy meters from the victim, alleges he called to him five times in German to lift his hands, observed that he failed to do so but used his hands "to look for something on his chest" and shot him. The victim allegedly turned to walk away whereupon the accused shot him again, causing him to fall to the ground. Two neighbouring farmers heard a call for help, located the wounded airman and saw HANGOBL running away. The two farmers finding no gun on the victim's person, carried him to the home of one of them and kept him there pending efforts to locate a doctor. After several hours the local physician was located and sent the wounded airman to a hospital at Oberndorf, Austria, at 2000 hours. X-rays were taken and the victim removed to a hospital at Lauf, Germany, where facilities for performing a needed operation were available. The operation was performed, but the victim died shortly thereafter due to excessive loss of blood, death occurring at about 2300 hours.

a. On or about 28 September 1944 three United States bombers were shot down in the vicinity of HEININGEN-BORSSUM, Germany, and a fourth bomber was shot down in the vicinity of DORSTADT. Five of the flyers are known to have parachuted safely in the vicinity of HEININGEN and BORSSUM. One of these flyers was captured by civilians in the vicinity and taken to the office of August REINECKE, also known as RENEKE, the Burgomaster of HEININGEN, who, accompanied by Michael SCHOCK and a HOMANN, walked the flyer to the village outskirts and shot and killed the flyer by firing one shot in the back of the victim's head. HOMANN and SCHOCK took no part in the actual shooting. The individual identity of the victim is unknown. He was buried the following day in the HEININGEN Cemetery and later disinterred for burial in a United States Military cemetery. REINECKE has confessed to this murder.

b. About 4 o'clock on the afternoon of 28 September 1944, two Polish laborers saw REINECKE shoot four flyers with a pistol in front of a granary about 1/2 kilometer north of HEININGEN. Another Polish laborer, who was in the immediate vicinity of the granary at the time, heard several shots, saw REINECKE walking from the scene, met him on the road and saw the four bodies lying in front of the granary. The next day the bodies of four United States flyers were located in a wood about two kilometers from the scene of the shooting of the four flyers by REINECKE. These four bodies indicated that the victims had been shot and they were buried with the fifth victim (which REINECKE admitted killing) in a common grave with nine other United States flyers. REINECKE denies shooting the four flyers.

The victims have not been definitely identified,

On 21 July 1944 five United States airmen parachuted from a disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of URACH (Schwarzwald), Germany. Three of these airmen, identified as Leonhardt A. KORNBLAU, Charles WOLF and Franz MISIAK, were apprehended by the rural police. While they were being escorted to SCHOLLACH, Germany, now in the French Zone, they were intercepted by Fritz KUNER, Jr, Gottlieb WERNER, Max MATTHES and Frederich HEIN, who ordered the rural police to deliver the three airmen to them. KUNER, Jr, and his colleagues had been ordered by BIRNBREIER to kill the airmen. WERNER issued loaded pistols to each man. Shortly after the departure of the rural police, the three airmen were lined up along the road and killed. MATTHES denies firing a shot but accuses KUNER, Jr. and WERNER of actual shooting. HEIN was some distance away having been posted as a guard.

The two other airmen, identified as Bernhardt RADOWSKI and M.N. MILLES, were apprehended and brought to the city hall at SCHOLLACH. BIRNBREIER demanded of the rural police that they be delivered to him but the police refused. Kreisleiter KUNER, however, ordered that the airmen be delivered to BIRNBREIER. Policeman FALLER took the airmen into the woods separately and delivered each one to BIRNBREIER and Joseph KISELE, who were waiting there, and BIRNBREIER and KISELE murdered the two airmen.

The five murdered airmen were buried in a cemetery in SCHOLLACH.

Leonhardt A. KORNBLAU, Charles WOLF, Franz MISIAK, Bernhardt RADOWSKI and M.N. MILLES have been tentatively identified as the victims.

On 7 October 1944 at about 1100 hours a United States airman parachuted to the ground approximately 400 meters east of MIEL, Germany. Upon landing he was taken into custody by a German civilian who proceeded to take the airman to the local police station. While enroute they were joined by a crowd of German civilians, among which were Heinrich HUMDGEN, who hit the airman several times on the head and shoulders, and Josef SCHLOSSER, who kicked the pilot several times in the buttocks. Subsequently a German officer arrived on the scene and took the airman. Just prior to being led away and while no one was watching, the United States flyer threw a wallet to Jan STANCH, a bystander and an eyewitness to the beating, who kept the wallet until he turned it over to the Investigating Officer. The wallet and its contents indicate that it was the wallet of 1st Lieutenant Robert O. WIERDSMA. Lieutenant Robert O. WIERDSMA has been tentatively identified as the victim.

PARTICULARS OF ALLEGED CRIME

On or about 29 June 1944, a United States aviator parachuted to the ground in the vicinity of LORNITZ, Germany. He surrendered to German nationals who turned him over to Werner SCHWENKE, Ortsgruppenleiter, and Hermann BERTRAM, a farmer and member of the home guards. They took him to GLOTHE where he was shot and killed. Only SCHWENKE and BERTRAM were present at the time of the murder. The latter who is in custody, states that SCHWENKE is responsible for the murder. SCHWENKE, in his official report, states both of them fired. The body of the victim is buried in the cemetery at said GLOTHE. There is testimony in the file by Doctor Albert HALLENLEBEN who examined the victim right after the shooting as to the cause of death.

The victim has been identified as James R. MURRAY, grade unknown, ASN 35274235. Request has been made of the Director General, U.S. Theater Graves Registration Service for evidence to confirm this identification.

On 28 December 1944 an unidentified United States lieutenant parachuted from his disabled aircraft at HAINSBACH, Germany. He was captured by members of the 2d Company, Panzer Jaeger Ersatz, Abteilung No 10 and taken to the orderly room of that unit at METTING. Shortly thereafter, upon the order of Captain FAMGRUBER, Commanding Officer of the unit, the flier was forced to stand out of doors dressed only in thin trousers and shirt for approximately two and one-half hours. For one hour of this period he wore neither shoes nor socks. The weather was very cold at the time.

The victim has not been identified. He is known to be a lieutenant in the Army Air Force.

(29303) W.P.2224 5-43 A.E.W.Ltd. Op.685
A United States Army Air Forces officer parachuted to a small island in the Rhine River near ERBACH, Germany, at approximately 1500 hours on 19 September 1944. He was taken prisoner by some civilians from ERBACH who crossed to the island in a motor launch, and found the airman after a short search. Although the airman surrendered himself peacefully, Otto BREHM and William BAUSCH beat him with clubs, and Sebastian SCHMIDT struck him with a stick.

The flyer was brought to the city hall of ERBACH by his captors and turned over to the town mayor, Johann KAUFER, who asked why the flyer had not been beaten to death so that he would not be able to report his mistreatment. Subsequently the flyer was evacuated to MEUVILLE, Germany.

The victim of the alleged war crime has been tentatively identified as Lt. William BAUMAN, United States Army Air Forces.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Assault and battery of a captured United States airman.

Source: War Crimes Branch of United States Forces, European Theater, (War Crimes Branch No. 12-1622, HAMMELN (P)).
In March 1945 an unknown United States airman parachuted from a damaged plane and landed with serious facial burns in the vicinity of BASTENBECK, Germany. He was apprehended by two German civilians, MÜLLER and MATHILDE LAMMERHIRT, and brought to MÜLLER's house. Two officers arrived later and took the airman to the Bürgermeister's office, and from there to HAMELN. The airman and his escort were followed by a German civilian, Werner KORNALWICZ, and several Nazi officials. KORNALWICZ, goaded on by Nazi officials, hit the airman two or three times on the head and shoulders with a stick. The airman continued on his way to HAMELN.

The victim has not been identified.

KORNALWICZ has admitted that he hit the victim.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Assault of captured United States aviator.

Source: War Crimes Branch of United States Forces, European Theater (War Crimes Branch No. 12-1700, ISERBROOK (F)).

On 20 June 1944 a United States aviator, Joseph Adolf EVERS, parachuted from his crippled aircraft, landing in a meadow near ISERBROOK. Several Germans immediately ran to him, one of whom, named Georg WeDEL, struck the flier in the face with a shovel. Other Germans soon arrived upon the scene, some carrying sticks and shovels, and as the crowd milled about him and shouted he was struck, pummeled and kicked by other unidentified persons. One Erhard AWE struck him several times with a steel helmet.

EVERS was then taken to the Luftgau in ISERBROOK where he was searched and his possessions divided among his captors. One Friedrich Vollbehr received his watch and flying jacket.

It was rumored that EVERS later died as a result of his injuries, but nothing definite is known about him after he reached the Luftgau.

The victim has been definitely identified as Joseph Adolf EVERS, United States Air Forces.

The GAUGER Case.

I refer to my minutes of even reference dated 10th December 1945, 10th January and 30th January 1946 respectively, and I am directed by the Judge Advocate General of the Forces to convey to you the following further advice in connection with this case.

1. It will be observed that four additional accused, namely ULMANN, NIESEL and DIETZ, have now been added to the previous list of accused and in my opinion the evidence justifies trial by military court under the Royal Warrant of these four accused, jointly with the remainder of the accused on the identical charge to that set out in paragraph 3 of my minute of even reference dated 30th January 1946.

2(a). It is understood that of these additional accused NIESEL and DIETZ are not yet known to be in custody, but the other two are understood to be in custody as under:-

Bernhard Jakob ULMANN & C.I.C., B.A.O.R.
Eugen BAUMANN - French custody at St. REMI.

2(b). It should also be noted that the accused BECH, KOEB and HIRSCHWANGER who at the date of my previous minute of even reference dated 30th January 1946 were not known to be in custody, have now been traced and are held in custody as under:-

BECH - French custody.
Heinrich HIRSCHWANGER - C.I.C., B.A.O.R.
Helmut KOEB - C.I.C., B.A.O.R.
3. It will be observed that of the total of 15 accused, ZUBERLMAH, VERTER, NIEBEL, and DEBER have not yet been traced and are not known to be in custody, but I see no reason why the trial of the remainder of the accused should on this account be delayed, and in the event of these four accused not now in custody being apprehended before the trial, they should then be brought to trial on the charge advised.

4. If all or any of the accused ZUBERLMAH, VERTER, NIEBEL, and DEBER are apprehended prior to the trial they should be interrogated and the interrogation report or statement should be submitted to the Judge Advocate General for his perusal.

5. I enclose the originals and eighteen copies each of the statements of the accused:

- Heinrich MEINSLANDER
- Erwin GOTTING
- Bernhard Josef ULLICH
- Helmut KONR

and these should be added to paragraph 6(b) of my minute of even reference dated 10th December 1945.

6. With the exception of the advice and observations herein contained the remainder of the paragraphs of my previous minutes of even reference of 10th December 1945, 10th January 1946 and 30th January 1946 are not affected.

On or about 18 March 1945, a United States aviator crashed his fighter plane near BENZHEIM, Germany. The airman was uninjured and surrendered to a member of the Gestapo Karl GÖTZ and a party leader named Dr. Kurt VOLLMERING. They notified Gestapo headquarters at BENZHEIM, and the airman was then turned over to Gestapo members sent from that headquarters. Four days later the airman was found shot to death. His body was buried in a cemetery at WINTER KASTEN, Germany.

The accused persons who were members of Gestapo headquarters at BENZHEIM, are being sought. Wanted Reports have been forwarded to CROWCASS on them.

The victim has not been definitely identified, but he is believed to be a United States aviator named Robert L. VAN HORN, a 2d Lieutenant. This tentative identification is based on the recovery of an identification card from German authorities.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 31 July 1944 Lts. R. MADDISON and Michiel ROHULICH, and Sgt. John J. Smith crash-landed in a four motored bomber near ECHING, Germany and surrendered to German soldiers stationed at an antiaircraft position. Accused STAUDINGER, HERMANN, and HUBER took the fliers from the custody of accused KAISER upon orders of accused VILLECHNER and EISENHART, took them to a nearby barracks and shot and killed them. HERMANN and HUBER fired the shots and STAUDINGER was present aiding and abetting.

Note: Two other accused, Georg FISHER and Andreas KREISCHER, have been listed "A" on previous facts set out in original case. Accused STAUDINGER and EISENHART have also been listed "A" in the original case. It now appears that three, rather than two, United States airmen were killed.

out a system approved by authority or a legal provision; (b) the probable defence;
c) whether the case appears to be reasonably complete.)

The accused STAUDINGER, HERMANN and HUBER will probably defend on the ground that they were acting in obedience to superior orders. Accused KAISER will probably defend upon the theory that he did not know for what purpose he was turning the airmen over to STAUDINGER, HERMANN, and HUBER. The case is considered reasonably complete.

On or about 31 July 1944, two United States flyers, Michael ROHULICH, O-708312 and 2d Lieutenant R. MADDISON, parachuted from their disabled plane and landed near ECHING, Germany, where they were captured by German soldiers commanded by Oberfeldwebel Henrich EISENHART, EISENHART, Hans STAUDINGER and unidentified soldiers shot and killed these two flyers. There is also evidence that Andreas RIECHENSPERGER shot one of the flyers after capture and that Georg FISHER took the flight boots of one of the victims. The bodies of the flyers were disinterred and a finding made as to ROHULICH that death was caused by multiple gunshot wounds of the chest with laceration of the heart and lungs. Because of decomposition of the tissues, it was not possible to make a definite finding as to the cause of death in the case of Lieutenant R. MADDISON.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Murder of three captured United States aviators.

Source: War Crimes Branch of United States Forces, European Theater, (War Crimes Branch No. 12-926, FEHRLE (A)).

Transmitted by...
On 17 February 1945 three United States aviators parachuted from their plane at Hanau, Germany. They were captured and taken to the police station at Hanau. After being interrogated, they were taken, one at a time into the courtyard of the police station and deliberately shot to death.

Adolf Weger, the Criminal Commissar of Hanau, directed the killings and actually shot one of the victims. He has signed a written confession that he killed one aviator and directed the killing of the others on the orders of Police Director Fehrle, who has committed suicide. Julius Schulze, Criminal Secretary of the State Police at Hanau, signed a written confession that he participated in the murder. Karl Nember, a member of the Gestapo in Hanau, has also signed a confession. Georg Guggenberger also participated in the crime.

Victims: The victims have not been definitely identified, but they are all United States aviators and one of them is believed to be named Charles B. Goldstein.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On 28 March 1945, at Stalag IX A, a United States prisoner of war climbed through the window of a latrine to another enclosure where he was shot by a German guard. Thereafter the authorities at the Stalag did not allow anyone to give the victim medical aid and as a result he bled to death. The Accused must be charged with responsibility for the actions of his subordinates both in the shooting of the victim as well as in permitting him to bleed to death.

All of the victims apparently died immediately. According to KLEPP, this was done in accordance with HITLER's "secret-order that all "terror flyers" should be shot.

Hie, paratrooper, from a plane and landed in a field near BARMER, Germany, United States Zone, and was apprehended by a searching party which was held by the local Burgermeister and the Gendamerie at KESMEL to deliver him to KESMEL, and they would be met by a gendarmerie on the route. Three km. outside of KESMEL, OTTE and LANG, whom OTTE had ordered to accompany him, met OTTE and LANG took custody of the airman. After they had walked some distance towards town OTTE drew his pistol and shot LANG in the back of his head killing him instantly. LANG was OTTE's superior officer and had repeatedly brought to OTTE's attention an order forbidding police to deliver alive captured airman. LANG advised OTTE, "Otto, your report that the pilot was brought in dead is in order."

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On 4 August 1944 a United States flying Fortress was forced down on BORKUM ISLAND. Its seven crew members were uninjured and were taken prisoners. They were searched and interrogated, then forced to march, under military guard, through the streets of BORKUM where they were beaten by the Accused civilians and the guards. Neither the guards nor officers in charge made any effort to protect the prisoners, but on the contrary, fostered the assaulting. When the airmen reached the city hall in BORKUM one was shot and killed. A few minutes later, when the airmen reached a point on Reede Street near the Sports Platz in BORKUM, the remaining six fliers were shot and killed.

On 4 August 1944, a United States Flying Fortress landed in the Muschelfeld on the north side of Borkum Island around 1300 hours. The plane made a belly landing and the seven members of the crew alighted from the plane. Only one member of the crew had an injury which was on the forehead.

The airmen were led to Battery Ostland where they were searched and made to stand with their hands over their heads until around 1600 hours and on the orders of Pregetten-Kapitaaen Kurt Goebell, Festungskommandant of the Marineflakabteilung Number 216, and Oberleutnant Jakob Keller, Chief of Ostland Battery, were marched over the Muschelfeld, along the sea wall to the Promenade in the town of Borkum towards the Fliegerhorst at the other end of the Island a distance of about twelve kilometers. They could have gone the entire route on a train and could have taken a route so as to miss the town.

They were turned down Viktoria Strasse from the Promenade but Oberleutnant Erich Wentzel, Adjutant, ordered they turn back and made them pass between members of the Reichs Labor Corps who beat them with shovels. August Haosiker, Oberstfeldmeister of the Reichsarbeitsdienst, said he ordered this beating.

They continued their march with their hands over their heads, down Strand Strasse to Bahnhof Strasse where they were turned right on the latter Street. At this intersection a civilian struck some of the prisoners about the head with his fist and shouted at them, Oberleutnants Wentzel and Karl Weber were nearby at this time.

When they turned down Franz Habich Strasse, Jan J. Ackermann, Burgomaster of Borkum, shouted at them, "kill them, kill them like dogs", and Reinhardt Hoksena and Josef Haken struck them.

The prisoners were led down Franz Habich Strasse to Neue Strasse and turned left down that street to Seldte Strasse and turned right on Seldte Strasse. The Rathaus is located at the latter intersection. Gerhardt Garrals was seen among other civilians at this intersection to strike and kick the prisoners and one of them fell from exhaustion or was knocked down here and later shot by a German soldier. Oberleutnant Wentzel saw this American on the ground here.

The remaining six airmen and six guards proceeded down Seldte Strasse where Korvetten-Kapitaaen Walter Krollkowski, Flakkommandeur of the 216 Battery, Oberleutnants Wentzel and Weber, saw the prisoners being beaten and did nothing to prevent their also being later shot. This was at the Old Tower.

The march continued down Blumen Strasse to Reede Strasse and along the latter street, with the prisoners being beaten by their guards and civilians among whom were the accused. They were forced to keep their hands over their heads during the entire march and were not disorderly nor did they try to escape at any time.

About 1730 hours at the corner of Suderreihe Strasse and Reede Strasse, a German Infantryman, thought to be Gefreiter or Obergefreiter Langer, ran up behind each of the remaining six Americans and shot them in the back of the head. A few minutes later, one of the guards, possibly Obermaat Jakob Wittmaack, shot the two Americans at the head of the column a second time each.

Korvetten-Kapitaaen Krollkowski ordered the guards to his office where they were obliged to sign a prepared statement to the effect that the civilians had killed the United States airmen.

The approximate distances from Battery Ostland to the Rathaus, where the first American was killed, is 6.1 kilometers; from the Rathaus to the Dorf Hotel, approximately one (1) kilometer; and from the Dorf Hotel to the Sports Platz, where the remaining six Americans were killed, approximately 1.4 kilometers.

Victims: Howard S. GRAHAM,
Kenneth PARKER,
William F. DOLDO,
William J. MYERS,
Harvey M. WALTHALL,
W.M.W. LAMBERTUS,
James W. DANTO.
NOTES ON THE CASE

(Under this heading should be included the view taken as to (a) the degree of responsibility of the accused in view of his official position, e.g., was offence committed on the offender's own initiative, or in obedience to orders, or in carrying out a system approved by authority or a legal provision; (6) the probable defence; (c) whether the case appears to be reasonably complete.)

The assaulting and murders were committed on the Accused's own initiative and in furtherance of Dr. GOEBBELS' orders not to protect captured airmen from civilian demonstrations. All of the Accused are directly implicated in the beating and killing of the seven airmen. Several of the accused have admitted the assault. Those charged with murder will likely urge as a defense a complete denial of the murder plan, and those of the military will attempt to place all blame on the civilians. The case is considered reasonably complete.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On 30 November 1944, S/Sgt. F.J. McADAM parachuted on to the roof of a house in WELLESWEILER. Erich HERBER climbed up to release him. The Accused arrived and took complete charge, keeping people away. The flyer was unconscious, and HERBER cut the parachute shrouds and lowered the flyer slowly to the edge of the roof. The roof was about 4 meters from the ground. The Accused called to HERBER to let the flyer down which HERBER did, thinking the Accused would catch him. The Accused deliberately stepped aside and let the flyer fall to the ground. Later the flyer was taken to a first aid station and was found to have a flak wound in one leg, and a fracture of the other leg. By the time he was taken to the first aid station he had bled a great deal and was weak. He was ordered to a hospital and taken to HOMBURG where the hospital was full. The car then started for LANDSTONE, and the flyer died on the way. He was buried in the cemetery at LANDSTUHL. The pathologist gives hemorrhage and shock as the cause of death.

The investigation of subject case indicates a series of orders emanating from Heinrich Himmler's office which direct subordinates to kill all captured airmen. This policy is the subject of another investigation now being conducted. The defense of Holzach and Eich will be "superior orders". Mitz will rely upon his refusal to personally carry out the orders, although he was present at the murder and didn't object to someone else doing the actual killing. The case is complete and will be brought to trial upon apprehension of Holzach and Eich.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

VIENENBURG Incident: Three of approximately eight United States airmen who parachuted from their disabled aircraft on or about 19 May 1944 were captured in the vicinity of VIENENBURG, Germany. The prisoners were taken to the VIENENBURG City Hall for interrogation. Before the interrogation, one of the airmen was beaten by FLAMME and FRÖLICH and another by FRICKE and PFIEFFER. HOFLE ordered PFIEFFER to have the prisoners shot. Later the same day PFIEFFER, FRICKE, PFIEIL, FRÖLICH and SCHUBERT, together with the three airmen, were driven in two cars to BRAUNSCHwEG, near VIENENBURG. PFIEFFER ordered SCHUBERT, PFIEIL and FRÖLICH to shoot the airmen and ordered FRICKE to accompany them to make certain that the prisoners were killed. PFIEFFER remained in one of the cars. The airmen were taken to a point 500 meters from the cars and each shot in the back of the head by SCHUBERT, PFIEIL and FRÖLICH. The bodies were later found at the scene of the crime and buried there. (Continued on Page 2)

LOCHTUM Incident: Two of the aforementioned eight airmen were also captured on or about 19 May 1944 in the vicinity of LOCHTUM, Germany, adjacent to VIELENBURG. The flyers were interrogated by Kreisleiter PFEIFFER. When he saw them, PFEIFFER asked "Why are these swine still alive?" and ordered Policemen OPPERMANN, SCHOTTKE and REINHARDT to kill the flyers. The hands of the flyers were tied behind their backs and the policemen took them by auto to a field where they got out. OPPERMANN and REINHARDT, armed with drawn pistols, were five to ten meters behind the flyers. SCHOTTKE, armed with a carbine, was twenty meters behind the flyers. Wilhelm KRAMER, a shepherd, saw the flyers marched through the field with the policemen. He heard shots and saw the flyers fall to the ground, and the policemen at the sides of the bodies. OPPERMANN came up to KRAMER and stated, "These two airmen tried to run away before, and now they can't run any more". The police reported that the flyers were shot while trying to escape.

Between about 19 December 1944 and 5 February 1945, at a German prisoner-of-war camp (DULAG 377), accused Eisenhauer shot and killed an American prisoner who was slow in falling out for a detail. Statements of over 100 witnesses disclose that during same period at this camp from 900 to 1300 prisoners of war were housed in a two-storey shed of 50 by 100 feet, with no blankets or beds. During this period the weather was below freezing most of the time. Food consisted of ½ loaf of bread and ½ pint of thin soup per man per day, and was largely unfit for human consumption. Evidence discloses that German guards had plenty of good food during this time. No latrine facilities were provided, except for a few buckets on the floor, resulting in contamination of food and dysentery among the prisoners.

Accused Hermann and Schickler were Commandants of this camp during this period. All other accused were subordinate officials of the camp, actively engaged as principals in the commission of the alleged crimes.

Accused Hermann, Schickler, Heimes, and Lang are in United States custody.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 22 February 1945, an unknown United States airman who had parachuted from his disabled aircraft surrendered himself to a German national in VIENENBURG, Germany. The prisoner was taken to the City Hall for interrogation. During the interrogation Police Chief Franz SCHUBERT struck the airman in the face four times. Thereafter, SCHUBERT took the airman, whose hands were tied behind his back, to the VIENENBURG Jail and notified Kreisleiter Wilhelm PFELLMANN. The latter ordered Otto FRICKE and Alfred PFELLMANN to have the airman shot. The flyer was taken to a road between VIENENBURG and WEDDINGEN and there killed by PFELLMANN and PFELLMANN. The dead flyer was found with a bullet hole in the head. SCHUBERT admits that he mistreated and choked the airman by tightening a rope around his neck pursuant to orders issued by HIMMLER.

On or about 18 March 1945 a United States airman, believed to be Harold E. CHURCHILL, ASN 16115914, who had parachuted to safety near GORDENSTEDE, Germany, was discovered in a nearby woods by Oberarbeitsfuehrer UTERMARK. Without challenging or demanding surrender in any way, UTERMARK fired a burst of shots from a machine pistol at the flyer. The flyer was lying in a thicket and apparently had been crawling toward UTERMARK. After the first burst from the machine pistol, the flyer rolled slightly on his left side, raised his head up and his hands over his head, and cried out. Despite this attempt to surrender, UTERMARK deliberately fired two more bursts at him. When, later, the flyer still showed signs of life, UTERMARK remarked that, if necessary, he would shoot him again. The body was searched by UTERMARK and found unarmed.

When COOK was within 35 feet of him, KLAES asked if he were an American. COOK raised his hands above his head and answered in the affirmative; whereupon KLAES shot him in the right thigh and lower abdomen. ### SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

In or about October 1944, an United States airman parachuted out of his plane and landed in the neighbourhood of NIEDERHAUSEN, Germany. He was captured by Luftwaffe personnel and taken to NIEDERHAUSEN. As they approached a leather factory in the town, Carl FEIX jumped out in the street, kicked the airman and hit him with his fists. They fell over in the struggle. HELMANN, an employee of FEIX, entered the fracas, beat the flyer with a stick and kicked him. The Luftwaffe men then escorted him toward the burgomeister's office, followed by a crowd of civilians. At this time Alfred HOLLER hit the flyer, kicked him and rammed him with his bicycle.

(a) Each of the accused committed the offence on his own initiative.

(b) FELIX will probably claim that unknown and unidentified soldiers pushed the airmen into him and that he then lost his temper.

Reininger may claim superior orders on the part of FELIX, but according to witnesses he deliberately entered into the fracas.

RÜMER has offered no defense.

The airman was suffering from wounds in his head and arm and had a broken leg. Ortsgruppenleiter Ritter, Oberfrontfuehrer Dit ten, Mathias Lambert and others arrived on the scene. Ritter and Dit ten urged the crowd to beat the flyer to death. Lambert hit the flyer with his fist, knocked him to the ground, trampled on him with his hobnailed shoes and kicked him. Ritter urged Lambert to kill the flyer and Lambert, who had a knife in his hand, stabbed the flyer with it in the back. Ditten was requested by the local police chief to take the flyer to the hospital in his car and refused to do so. The police chief secured an aid man and, after having first aid administered, succeeded in getting the flyer to a hospital.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

(a) On or about 10 June 1944, 3/Sgt. Herbert GEBERS was taken before a Gestapo interpreter-interrogator, Ludwig DOSCH, in the Gestapo Prison known as Oberursel, near FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Germany. DOSCH told him he was to be interrogated for "identification purposes only". Upon GEBERS' refusal to answer questions calling for information of a military nature, DOSCH procured another member of the Gestapo, Ernst TONIES, to assist him in the interrogation. GEBERS was made to lie face down across the arms of a chair while TONIES beat him violently with a rubber hose or truncheon on his back and buttocks for approximately 5 minutes, during which time about 30 blows were struck. DOSCH meanwhile continued to question him. Upon his refusal to sign a document purporting to contain statements made by him, GEBERS was again beaten with the rubber hose by TONIES in the same manner. As a result of these beatings, GEBERS suffered injuries of a most serious and painful nature which impaired his physical and mental health and during a period of over two months caused him to be unable to walk unassisted.

(b) During the period April through May 1944, Erika REITH, a stenographer for DOSCH, saw him beat unknown members of the United States Army when he interrogated them in WIESBADEN, Germany. It was common knowledge that DOSCH threatened and beat prisoners and reduced their food rations and TURNES was notorious for his brutality.

(a) Each of the accused committed the offense on his own initiative.

(b) The accused will contend that S/Sgt. GEBERS and other unknown members of the United States Army, upon being apprehended in civilian clothing, were not entitled to treatment as prisoners of war but could be looked upon as spies. BUCH may also contend that he was not a party to the assault upon Sgt. GEBERS since he did not personally slap or strike him.

The accused will also contend that their treatment of the victims during the period April through May 1944 did not constitute beatings. Testimony of the witnesses refutes this.

Short Statement of Facts.

On or about 21 February 1945 a United States airman, believed to be Captain John C. Fitsch, ASN unknown, parachuted down in the vicinity of Winkelhaid, Germany, British Zone. The airman suffered burns on one foot and a sprained arm, sustained in combat. He was captured and then turned over to Johann Koch, a member of the Home Guard (Landserwache) for delivery to the Burgermeister's office in Winkelhaid. Instead of taking the flyer to Burgermeister Johann Krauss, Koch took him to his own home to await the arrival of the gendarmerie because he felt that Krauss, who had the reputation of being a brutal man, would mistreat the flyer. Krauss learned of the capture and appeared at the Koch home a half hour later and beat the surrendered, unarmed, wounded flyer so severely with his fists that he caused the flyer to bleed. Krauss only stopped the beating when others present protested. Krauss admits that he tried to incite the people to beat the flyer to death.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 3 October 1944, an unknown United States airman parachuted to safety near GIESSEN, Germany; he was apprehended and taken to the local police station. Shortly after arriving at the police station an air raid alarm was sounded and the American was taken to an air raid shelter. While in the air raid shelter, the airman was struck by Julius LASSAK, SS Standartenfuehrer, who then departed and telephoned the office of the GIESSEN Gestapo, informing them of the presence of the flyer. LASSAK returned to the shelter and informed the airman's captors that he was to be delivered to the Gestapo for further interrogation. At the Gestapo office the flyer was delivered to Criminal Secretary Interrogator BRANNER. In a few minutes BRANNER left the Gestapo headquarters accompanied by the American. Upon departing BRANNER said, "I still have a score to settle". BRANNER later placed a telephone call and upon completion of the call told the telephone operator "I called up because a United States flyer's body was lying near the Philosophen Forest". The body of the American was found in the Philosophen Forest and was identified as being the same American who had departed GIESSEN Gestapo headquarters with BRANNER. BRANNER admits he murdered the American. LASSAK admits striking the pilot and giving the order to deliver the American to the Gestapo in GIESSEN.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 22 February 1945 a United States airman, believed to be 2nd Lt. Archibald B. MONROE, Jr., Air Corps, AUS, ASN 0-834852, parachuted to earth from his disabled B-24 and landed in the vicinity of BIEBER, Germany. He was captured and delivered to the Police Station at BIEBER. That same night Wilhelm GOERNDT, Meister (2/Sgt) of Police at BIEBER, ordered the flyer marched to the Command Post at OFFENBACH. Policemen MICHEL and SCHNEIDER delivered the flyer to the Police Duty Officer at OFFENBACH, who summoned KIWITT. KIWITT reproached the two policemen for not having already killed the flyer and ordered them to take the flyer out on the main street and kill him; this they refused to do. KIWITT then called his superior officer KUHLENBECK (believed dead), over the phone and was told by the latter that the flyer was to be shot on orders from Police Director MICHEL. KIWITT then ordered MICHEL and SCHNEIDER to take the flyer out and kill him.

thereafter KIWITT sent Lt. ALT to follow them to see that they executed the order. ALT overtook the three men and asked MICHEL, "How long do you intend to walk before you shoot the flyer?" MICHEL replied that they were taking him back to KIEPBR.

An air raid alarm sounded at approximately that same time and the policemen marched the flyer to a nearby air raid shelter, where Police Director EICHEL's Command Post was also located. At the gate which led to the air raid shelter, the policemen called for a guard. Paul NAHRGANG, who was in charge of the Air Raid Protection Police, came and talked to the policemen. After a few words NAHRGANG called HAMMANN and FAY. NAHRGANG told them the flyer must be killed, on orders of EICHEL. FAY called for the policemen and the flyer who were standing at the gate; took a pistol from one of the policemen and began walking towards the rear of the courtyard. With the flyer were FAY, NAHRGANG, MICHEL, SCHNEIDER and possibly HAMANN. While walking towards the back of the courtyard FAY fired two shots from his pistol and the flyer ran down the rear stairs of the courtyard towards the street. When the flyer came out on the street, HAMANN, who had run out of the courtyard to the gate, was ready for the kill. The flyer was running, or staggering, down the street holding up his hands. HAMANN pursued his victim and fired one shot from his carbine at about 20 meters. The flyer fell down and HAMANN fired three more shots into the body. The victim died where he fell in the road.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 29 December 1944, a United States airman, believed to be Robert W. GARRISON, ASN 53355463, parachuted out of a disabled bomber near LANGENHAIN, Germany. He was taken prisoner and placed overnight in the city jail at MUSSEN. The next day, 30 December, he was taken to Gestapo Headquarters, WIESBADEN, Germany, where he was interrogated and beaten. That afternoon SS Oberfuhrer TRUSSLER gave orders to take GARRISON out after dark in the official car and shoot him. That night Arthur FURH and Richard FRAUN (believed dead) drove the flyer out on the Wiesbaden-Frankfurt road and stopped near DELMAR. FRAUN and FURH stepped out of the car with the airman and each fired one shot at him, killing him instantly. FRAUN and FURH notified the Gendarmerie of WASSAU FURH reported to TRUSSLER that the order had been carried out.

On or about 19 October/W United States airman, believed to be Willard F. PERRY, 7/Sgt, ASN 36591162, bailed out of a disabled bomber and landed in the vicinity of MAINZ, Germany, and was captured and taken to WIESBADEN, Germany. On the instructions of TRUMMEL, FURTH and HÜHLER took the flyer out, after darkness, and drove to a point about 12 kilometers outside WIESBADEN where the car was stopped and the aviator was ordered out of the car and shot. The body of the victim was left on the road. FURTH drove HÜHLER to WALLAU, Germany, and the local gendarme at WALLAU was given the order to bury the flyer. After delivering the instructions for the burial, FURTH and HÜHLER returned to WIESBADEN and reported to TRUMMEL that the order had been executed.

(c) The case appears to be reasonably complete.
On or about 22 February 1945 a United States airman, believed to be William A. Duke, 2nd Lt., Air Corps, USA, ASN 8262602, parachuted to earth in the vicinity of Bieber, Germany. He was captured and taken to the BIEBER Police Station, where he was turned over to ALBRECHT, GOEBEN, LUCK and KIWT. Shortly thereafter EICHEL and KIWT arrived. KIWT called the policemen in the office "cowards" because the flyer was still living. EICHEL ordered ALBRECHT to have the flyer killed. EICHEL announced to the policemen who were present that, "This man has to be shot by order of the Police Direktor EICHEL. Who will volunteer for it?" Nobody volunteered. EICHEL then called MOLLER into the next room and ordered him to shoot the flyer. The flyer was marched out of the Police Station by ALBRECHT and MOLLER; the group was joined by GOEBEN who was asked by ALBRECHT to keep the crowd of people back. MOLLER carried a German carbine and the others had pistols. The flyer walked a little ahead of MOLLER; GOEBEN followed him on the left side of the road, and ALBRECHT and COLO (the flyer's captor) were on the right side. (Continued on page 2)
A short distance out of BIEBER, Germany, MOLLER directed the flyer to walk off the road to the right into a wooded section. The balance of the group were slightly behind and waited on the road. After MOLLER and the flyer had walked into the woods a short distance, MOLLER fired one shot from his carbine into the victim, who was walking about 10 meters ahead of him. The flyer fell to the ground and MOLLER fired a second shot into his head, killing him. The victim did not attempt to escape prior to the shooting.

Later that same day KIWITT made MOLLER accompany him to the body as he wanted to make certain that the order to kill the flyer had been carried out. The body was buried three or four days later in the new cemetery at OFFENBACH, Germany.

On or about 27 March 1945, an United States airman, believed to be George F. Brown, Jr., 2nd Lt., USAF, ASN 0-5110, parachuted from his disabled plane at or near KURTEN, Germany. BROWN immediately surrendered and was taken into custody by Stephen SCHMIDT, who turned him over to Wilhelm ALDINGER, (deceased), the former Kreisleiter of OBERTHAL, Germany. On or about 29 March 1945, under orders from ALDINGER, MENRATH, KNOPP, and Alfred MEISSEN, (deceased) took the flyer by automobile to a point near BERGISCH-GLADBACH, Germany, where all four men got out of the car. KNOPP stood guard while MENRATH and MEISSEN directed the victim to a bomb crater and there, on MEISSEN’s order to shoot, MENRATH fired several shots into the victim, killing him. MEISSEN then fired a few more shots into the fallen airman to make sure that he was dead.

(b) MENRATH will probably assert that he killed the victim on the orders given by MEISSEN and ALDINGER. He will also probably assert that the victim attempted to escape. KNOFF will probably claim ignorance of the intention to kill the flyer and that after the shooting started he tried to stop it.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 18 March 1945, a United States flyer, believed to be 2nd Lt. Robert L. VAN HORN, ASN, O-715064., crash landed his P-51 airplane near REICHELMANN, Germany, United States Zone, and immediately surrendered to one Jakob HOFMANN, who gave orders to Peter DINCH MEIN to take the American to a doctor and have his minor injury dressed. DINGELMEIN, in company with the pilot, started off to the doctor's office. Enroute one Karl GOTZ demanded and obtained custody of the flyer. GOTZ was later joined by Dr. Kurt VOLLMERING and both proceeded with the American to LINDENFELS, Germany, United States Zone. At the Hotel Odenwald in LINDENFELS, GOTZ telephoned the Bensheim Gestapo and was informed that they would dispatch a motorcycle to pick up the prisoner. GOTZ and Dr. VOLLMERING later turned the American over to Obersturmführer Adolf SCHMIDT, who placed him in the side-car of a motorcycle and with Erich HINKEL driving and SCHMIDT on the tandem seat they proceeded in the direction of WINTERKASTEN, Germany. After passing through WINTERKASTEN, they approached a small woods near a cemetery and HINKEL gave SCHMIDT the order to shoot the pilot. SCHMIDT drew his revolver and fired three shots through the head of Lt. VAN HORN, killing him instantly.

On or about 20 July 1944, a United States airman, believed to be 2nd Lt. Arthur M. SCOTT, bailed out of his disabled bomber near AILINGEN, Germany, French Zone. He was taken prisoner by Albert SCHRAFF, former Burgermeister of Ailingen, member of the SS, who placed him in the jail at AILINGEN. Subsequently SCHRAFF communicated with Hans SEIBOLD, Kreisleiter of FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, stating he wanted orders from SEIBOLD for the disposition of the flyer. SEIBOLD sent a message back that the orders of Martin BORMANN should be carried out and that "there were so many possibilities." SCHRAFF showed MULLER, member of the Allgemeine SS, the order of SEIBOLD on the night of 21 July 1944 and the following night SCHRAFF and MULLER took the flyer in SCHRAFF's car to the rifle range near FRIEDRICHSHAFEN. MULLER was armed with a pistol. SCHRAFF stopped the car. MULLER ordered the flyer out and SCHRAFF drove his car a distance of 200 feet supposedly to turn around. He heard the sound of shots, turned, and found the flyer killed and MULLER standing near him.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

At approximately 1200 hours on or about 28 September 1944, a United States flyer, believed to be Douglas E. HICKS, T/Sgt., AUS, ASH 31265327, safely parachuted to earth in the vicinity of DETTUM, Germany, British Zone, landing in a field approximately 1200 meters east of DETTUM. A few minutes later RUMPF appeared on the scene with a carbine in his hands, approached the flyer and ordered away other persons from the scene. The flyer began walking in the direction of RUMPF with his hands raised. RUMPF fired a shot at the flyer which missed, the victim then started moving away from him. The accused then shot at the flyer two or three more times, killing him. After the shooting RUMPF said "I have just fired my best shot in a long time". The victim was not armed, offered no resistance to capture and did not attempt to escape. The body was buried in the church-yard at DETTUM. On 3 May 1945 it was exhumed by the American Graves Registration Command and on 6 May reburied at the United States Military Cemetery in MARGARET, Holland.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

At approximately 1300 hours on or about 18 March 1945, a United States airman, believed to be Ernest J. BUTLIN, ASN 1104427, parachuted to earth near ROSCHE, Germany, British Zone. He was captured by Otto KÜHNE and several other members of the local ARBEITSDIENST. KÜHNE was armed with a pistol and several of the others were armed with carbines or rifles. The airman, limping from his injuries, was marched towards the Arbeitsdienst Camp near ROSCHE, a distance of approximately 4 or 5 kilometers. On the way, they passed by a home which had been bombed and was still burning. KÜHNE accused the flyer of being responsible for setting fire to the house. A few minutes later, while being led across a field, the flyer fell down two or three times and was hit with a rifle butt by members of the Arbeitsdienst. After they proceeded a short distance from the burning house, the flyer was shot in the back of the head by KÜHNE and instantly killed. The flyer had his hands above his head at all times and made no attempt to resist or to escape.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS

On or about 31 July 1944 an unknown United States airman safely parachuted to earth from his disabled plane in the vicinity of HERDNEHEIM, Germany, United States Zone, and was captured by Philipp GASSNER. German soldiers arrived on the scene, put the airman in a truck and drove towards HERDNEHEIM. The truck was stopped by the accused Gendarmeriemeister GREGUS who was accompanied by Bürgermeister MATT, Polizeimeister ETSCH and Landwachtman Heinrich SCHMITT. GREGUS then struck the victim in his face from 2 to 5 times with his hands, causing the flyer's face to register pain. MATT kicked him once or twice in the buttocks. ETSCH hit the flyer in his back 3 to 5 times with the butt of his carbine while SCHMITT did the same from 1 to 4 times. The airman fell to his knees trying to shield himself with his arms. GREGUS and ETSCH kicked the victim while he was on the ground. As a result of the beating the flyer did not bleed but his face was red and registered pain.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 17 June 1944, Hqs. Co. 38th Reg., 17th Panzer Gren. Div. Goetz von Berlichingen, was in position near Montmartin en Craignes, France, under the command of Obersturmbannführer Horst Horstmann. During the morning of said day approximately 70 American prisoners of war were received by the regiment and were summarily interrogated by Horstmann and his adjutant, a certain SS Haupsturmführer Wahl. Horstmann and Wahl segregated two of the Americans, whose names and identities are unknown, and ordered that they be killed in reprisal for the garroting of two German soldiers the night before. Accused Erwin Schienkiewitz was designated by Horstmann to comply with the order and attend to the details. Schienkiewitz appointed William Schneider and (HU) Schaeffer, two non-coms, to perform the executions. Schneider and Schaeffer murdered the Americans under Schienkiewitz' supervision and disposed of the bodies by burying them in unmarked graves in woods near the bivouac area.

On or about 8 April 1945 a United States flyer, S/Sgt. Edward SUPE, parachuted out of a disabled bomber in the vicinity of Hof, Germany, United States Zone. He landed near the home of a one-armed German farmer named Friedrich HANSEIMANN who attacked him with a stick approximately two and a half feet long and three quarters of an inch thick. SUPE, who was attempting to surrender to HANSEIMANN, was struck three or more times receiving three wounds on the head, five to ten centimeters long and a fractured hand. SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 24 December 1944, in the vicinity of FREIENSEN, Germany, United States Zone, an unknown United States airman parachuted to earth and was taken into custody by Otto HENNE. HOFMANN soon appeared on the scene. HARTMAN incited the crowd saying that the airman should be killed. Shortly thereafter, HENNE began marching the flyer down the road to LAUBACH, Germany. HOFMANN soon followed, with a revolver in his hand. Shortly thereafter, HOFMANN, without justification, jumped up behind the victim, fired one shot from a revolver into his back and a second shot in the region of his neck causing the victim to fall to the ground, but he did not die immediately. HOFMANN left the scene and shortly thereafter returned with a wagon, upon which the unconscious victim was loaded. HOFMANN and HENNE, with the wagon and victim, then proceeded on the road toward LAUBACH. After driving a short distance, the wagon was stopped and HENNE fired one shot from his revolver into the victim's temple, killing him.

He was captured by a German soldier and turned over to the Hitler Youth leader, LIPPMANN. While marching the flyer toward the town, LIPPMANN fired three or four shots at his prisoner. The flyer fell, and LIPPMANN left him in charge of a mob consisting chiefly of air-raid wardens. The mob, which included BUEHLER, KUHNERT, beat the flyer unconscious. Thereafter one ERRT, a male nurse at the city hospital, roughly put the victim on a stretcher and he was taken to the hospital after having been left in a garage. It was ordered that the victim be given the standard opiate of lo.c. of morphine. The nurse ERRT, however, gave not one but ten c.c., a lethal dose so that the flyer died immediately thereafter.

Two of these unknown Americans surrendered without resistance to Hauptfeldwebel Josef HUBER, and were being marched by him to the German barracks in the town, when suddenly the accused Feldwebel Michael KUHN appeared on a bicycle; dismounted; ran to one of the flyers, who was walking in front with his hands above his head, and beat him in the face with his fists. KAMIS delivered ANDREWS to the Unit Officers, Lt. JAWSCKE and Josef (or Sepp) SCHMITZ. JAWSCKE and SCHMITZ conferred briefly and JAWSCKE ordered Otto PESCHE to take the prisoner out of town and shoot him. Pte. Franz KARNER, Cpla. Franz ARTNER and Joseph GILLMAIER were ordered to accompany PESCHE. PESCHE and KARNER walked the airman a distance of 100 meters and PESCHE shot him in the back. As the flyer fell to the ground, PESCHE leaned forward and killed him with a shot in the head.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 18 July 1944, an unidentified United States flyer bailed out of a disabled plane in the vicinity of RIESTETZ, Kreis SANGERHAUSEN, Germany, Russian Zone. The flyer was placed in a wagon for the purpose of being brought to town. Two Germans dragged the flyer from the wagon and then with the help of FRANKE proceeded to beat him up. All three used their fists. One of the unnamed Germans then tied the prisoner to the wagon by a chain and the wagon was then started forward. The victim fell and was dragged two meters after which he was untied and taken on foot in the direction of town. At intervals he was beaten and kicked by FRANKE and the other unnamed Germans.

from the Chief of Police of BUTTSTÄDT to take the airman to WEIMAR and not let him escape.

Order had been given by Kreisleiter Franz HOFFMAN of BUTTSTÄDT that allied flyers shot down in the vicinity of BUTTSTÄDT were to be turned over to the Landrat and the Kreisleiter at WEIMAR. Dr. Gustav BECKER, dentist in BUTTSTÄDT, who had arrived at the police station on other business, was ordered by a policeman he did not know to drive the prisoner in his car to WEIMAR. Dr. BECKER, the American airman, BÖRNSCHEIN and BRÜCKNER got into Dr. BECKER's car and proceeded by the most direct route toward WEIMAR over a rough road. When they had gone about 230 meters, BRÜCKNER told Dr. BECKER to turn around and take the paved highway, to which Dr. BECKER replied that someone would have to get out and assist him by seeing that he didn't go into the ditch. BRÜCKNER got out of the car and went around to the rear of the car to observe the turning around. As he got out, the airman also got out. At this place in the road on the right side was a slight incline while down the road about 20 meters on the left hand side of the road was a wheat field.

When the airman got out of the car, he started to walk rapidly forward and into the wheat field. BRÜCKNER hollered, "Come, come get back into the car" several times and caught up with the airman about two meters into the wheat field. The airman had dropped to one knee and had halted. BRÜCKNER approached him with a pistol in his right hand, and as he did so the pistol went off shooting the airman in the head. As the airman dropped, BRÜCKNER went rapidly back to BUTTSTÄDT.

Dr. BECKER and BÖRNSCHEIN, when they heard the shot, got out of the car and went up to the body where they determined the airman was dead.
NOTES ON THE CASE

(a) The accused BRÖCKER and BÖNSCHEIN apparently committed the offense in obedience to superior orders given by Kreisleiter Franz HOFFMANN.

(b) BRÖCKER will claim that he was attempting to recapture the airman. BÖNSCHEIN will state that he had no knowledge of any premeditated action on BRÖCKER's part and was so stunned by the whole incident that he could do nothing but sit in the car.

On or about 18 June 1944, an unidentified United States airman landed from a disabled plane near APPEN, Germany, British Zone. He was taken prisoner by Lance Corporal FEIN and turned over to Gendarme Jonny WOHLEN. WOHLEN and a member of the Landwacht named Hans RUNGE escorted the flyer to the Gendarme offices at APPEN. WOHLEN protested but soon after Kreisorganisationsleiter Wilhelm LANGELICH appeared, demanded the prisoner and signed a receipt for the custody. WOHLEN asked LANGELICH where he was taking the prisoner and LANGELICH replied, "To the airfield, but I don't know if he will arrive there."

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Two separate crimes are involved. They follow a common pattern and involve some of the same perpetrators.

Incident 1: Sometime in May, June or July 1944, four captured, unidentified, unarmed, surrendered United States flyers were held prisoners at or near HEILSTAD, Germany, British Zone. On orders of Landrat Karl von HINUEBER and Hauptmann der Kreigendarmerie Hermann CRONE, a detail of men under Hauptsturmfuehrer Kurt DREGER, were to take the four flyers by truck towards the MARIENTHAL airport, British Zone, and were to shoot them while en route at a spot in the MARIENTHAL woods, pointed out on a map to DREGER by von HINUEBER. In the detail were PETELMEIER, HAUENSCHILD, MUELLER, CONRAD, MOSENHEUER, and SCHUBERT. The trucks were stopped on DREGER's order and the (Continued on Page 2)

Americans were marched down a lane in the woods. MOSENHEUR was told by DREGER to fall out of line. MOSENHEUR's gun was given to SCHUBERT; DREGER loaned his gun to CONRAD, who had no ammunition in his own. A volley of shots were fired by CONRAD, MUeller, SCHUBERT, and HAUSENSCHILD, and the flyers fell. FELDMEIER then fired two shots into the body of the flyer who had been placed in front of CONRAD. The bodies of the flyers were loaded on to the trucks and delivered, together with the papers and personal property of the flyers, to the MARIENTHAL Airport, as had been ordered by von HINUEBER. DREGER then reported to von HINUEBER that the orders had been carried out.

DREGER and SCHUBERT have confessed their parts in the killing; all perpetrators have admitted presence and participation. MOSENHEUR did not fire a shot as SCHUBERT had his pistol. FELDMEIER says he only shot a flyer who was not completely dead. HAUSENSCHILD does not remember shooting but cannot say definitely that he did not shoot. MUELLER claims his pistol jammed. CONRAD admits firing.

Incident 2: Sometime in July 1944, DREGER was ordered by Hauptmann CROME to report to the HELMSTEDT Landratsamt with Hans Willi FINK and Karl SCHROEDER. Landrat von HINUEBER gave DREGER a written order that two United States airmen were to be shot and their bodies delivered to the MARIENTHAL Airport. The two airmen were loaded into a truck with FINK and SCHROEDER and DREGER got into his own car. At a signal from DREGER, the victims were stopped at the spot at which the killing in Incident 1 had occurred and DREGER gave orders for the shooting of the two flyers. FINK refused to carry out the orders and SCHROEDER took FINK's pistol. The flyers were marched down the lane followed by DREGER and SCHROEDER. DREGER shot one airman and SCHROEDER the other. Both airmen died instantly.

(a) All of the accused will probably claim defense of superior orders.

(b) DREGER will probably assert that he objected to carrying out the orders but feared for his own life if he did not do so. MUELLER will assert that he did not actually fire a shot as his pistol jammed. FINKE admits acting as driver; evidence shows he did refuse to shoot the flyers. He says he refused to help load the bodies but DREGER and SCHROEDER both say that FINKE did help load the bodies on the truck.

The accused, Brauchitsch, between 1930 and 1941 as Commander-in-Chief of the German Army, member of the Reich Defense Council, member of the Council of Ministers for All of the aforementioned crimes are proven by great masses of confirmed and corroborated evidence in the hands of the prosecution. These include German Army orders signed by the accused, administrative decrees and proclamations signed by the accused, minutes of speeches made by the accused and conferences attended by him, statements of witnesses, official government reports from all the occupied countries and sworn records of judicial proceedings.

The accused is charged with being in the common plan to commit the above crimes against peace and is accused of being a criminal participant in all those crimes.

The accused is further charged with having formulated and been a part of a common plan to commit war crimes in all the territory occupied by Germany between 15 March 1938 and 20 December 1941.

The following charges are only a small part of the total charges against the accused and are listed as being indicative of the total charges:

1. By virtue of his position as Commander-in-Chief of the Army, the accused had immediately after the invasion of Poland, the executive power for that area and is responsible for illegal decrees setting up German courts and German law, providing for death penalties for small offenses, for confiscation of property, and for countless crimes resulting from those decrees.

2. As possessor of the executive power in the Low Countries and in France prior to June 1941 and as bearer of the responsibility for the military administrations in those areas during that period, the accused is responsible for the murder and ill-treatment, the deportation to slave labor, the conscription for illegal purposes of civilians in these areas, the killing of hostages, and the imposition of collective penalties, all in violation of law.

3. In the USSR, the accused is responsible for the adoption and execution by the German army of a systematic policy of murder and ill-treatment of the civilian populations including the murder, by Einsatz Groups under military command, of hundreds of thousands of civilians pursuant to an agreement by the German Army and the NKVD. He also ordered and encouraged atrocities against Jews.

4. In Greece and Yugoslavia the accused is responsible for the murdering of thousands of civilians and the devastation of their villages without military necessity. For example, in Greece in October 1941, all the male population between 16 and 60 years of age from 7 villages were shot; in all, 416 persons; also, in Yugoslavia at Kragevatz in October 1941, 2300 hostages were shot by the military.

5. The accused is responsible for the murder and ill treatment of prisoners of war and for violations of the rules of warfare by the members of the German army.

a) For example, the accused prepared the Commissar Order ordering the execution of all political functionaries fighting with the USSR Army. b) In 1941 the accused is responsible for the distribution to the army in front of Leningrad of the order to raze Leningrad and refuse capitulation. c) The accused is responsible for the mistreatment and subsequent death of hundreds of thousands of prisoners as a result of the inhumane treatment of these prisoners by the army. By order of the German army prisoners were used on the construction of fortifications and other dangerous and legally prohibited work, such as clearing of mines, loading of munition trains, etc.

The above mentioned instances are only a small part of the total number of crimes for which the accused can and will be charged.
NOTES ON THE CASE

(Under this heading should be included the view taken as to (a) the degree of responsibility of the accused in view of his official position, e.g., was offence committed on the offender's own initiative, or in obedience to orders, or in carrying out a system approved by authority or a legal provision; (b) the probable defence; (c) whether the case appears to be reasonably complete.)

A. The accused as Commander-in-Chief of the German Army bears full responsibility for all the crimes committed by that army, particularly since many of them were committed by his express orders or as a result of general orders previously issued by him.
B. No defense can be foreseen at this time.
C. The case is complete for all the charges herein mentioned.

The accused was one of the foremost conspirators in the common plan of aggression for the systematic exploitation of Europe. His crimes have no specific geographical locations but extend throughout Europe. Every country of Europe could bring some charges against him. He should be tried in a common case with his subordinates, the other high ranking field marshals of the German Army, such as Rundstedt, Rundshler, Manstein, Leeb and others. It is contemplated that they will be so tried. His crimes should be considered in connection with and as being responsible for, the crimes of all those other high-ranking generals of the German Army accused of criminal acts prior to 28 December 1941.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 20 March 1945, a United States airman, believed to be 2nd Lt. Jack Rives, 0-836696, made a forced landing with a damaged plane in the vicinity of HELDPERSHEISSN, Germany, French Zone. He escaped from the plane unhurt and was captured shortly thereafter and brought by SS Oberstcharführer FICHEL to Gestapo Headquarters at QUIRNBACH, Germany, French Zone. There he was questioned by SS Oberstcharführer and Gestapo Kriminal Kommissar WÖRSEDOERFER and by SS Oberstcharführer HEITKAPF in the presence of SS Oberstcharführer DRESSLER. According to DRESSLER, WÖRSEDOERFER ordered DRESSLER to take the airman out and shoot him and sent HEITKAPF along to ensure that DRESSLER would execute the order. DRESSLER and HEITKAPF took the airman into the woods about two kilometers from QUIRNBACH, and there DRESSLER, in the presence and under the direction of HEITKAPF, fired several rounds of a machine pistol into the back of the airman, killing him instantly.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On 22 September 1944, a United States B-24 bomber left its base at SPEINZELLA, Italy, with other planes on a mission to bomb a Focke-Wulf aircraft factory in MUNICH, Germany. The ten members of the crew included Sergeant Rubin F. HARKEY, AS4 34772208, as engineer. Shortly after dropping their bombs on the target area at 1230 hours and while the planes were rallying for the return trip to their base, this B-24 suffered a direct hit by flak in its No.3 motor and rapidly lost altitude. About fifteen minutes later all members of the crew were ordered to bail out. All landed safely by parachute but widely separated. Eight members of the crew, including Sgt. HARKEY, landed in the vicinity of FALLING, Germany, U.S. Zone. HARKEY landed about a mile west of the town just beyond a road junction where the FALLING-TROSTIG road branches to the left of STINN. On emerging from the woods to the road he met a civilian, Johann GASSNER, who told him his comrades were being assembled in FALLING. Thereupon he started down the road with GASSNER walking east toward the village. They had walked but a short distance when they saw two military vehicles, a car and a truck, approaching them from the village.

HARKEY then crossed the road from right to left, ran up a shallow embankment and into a small woods north of the road. The car occupied by Hauptmann Siegfried SCHOLZ and his driver, Nikolaus HAUER, came to a stop. The two Wehrmacht soldiers jumped out and pursued the flyer. HAUER yelled "Halt!" several times and SCHOLZ carried a 9 mm FN pistol in his hand. HARKEY had reached the edge of the woods some 40 to 50 meters from the road but promptly complied with the order to halt. He then turned clockwise to face the soldiers, raising his hands shoulder high as he did so. At that moment without further warning and at a distance of 20 to 30 meters SCHOLZ fired and hit the flyer. The bullet pierced HARKEY's left hand and penetrated his left side below the heart. He died about five minutes later. Hauptmann SCHOLZ was a professional soldier and an officer in the Wehrmacht. Under orders he had taken charge of a small detachment of soldiers rounding up the enemy flyers in the neighborhood of PALLING. The most reliable evidence indicates that the shooting took place between 1500 and 1600 hours in the broad daylight. None of the surviving crew members witnessed the shooting. The seven flyers first assembled at PALLING first saw the body of HARKEY in a truck outside a school building in PALLING, Germany, following their interrogation. A guard ordered four of them to carry the body to a small building in a cemetery across the street. Depositions of these flyers indicate HARKEY's face was hardly recognizable since it appeared badly bruised, mutilated, puffed and bloody as if from a beating. A bullet hole appeared in the bloody clothing on the left side.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 22 March 1945, six United States air crew members, two unknown and the other four believed to be Capt. S.K. ANDERSON, Lt. MARTINICH, Sgt. D.C. GRIFFITH, and Sgt. Roscoe HARVEY were in custody of a German guard in NECKARSULM, Germany. Four of the prisoners were shot by Heinz ENDRESS, Clemens FUNDER, and an unknown German guard. Three of the airmen died immediately and one shortly afterward. The bodies were buried in a mass grave near NECKARSULM. The two airmen who escaped injury at this time were believed to be Capt. S.K. ANDERSON and Sgt. Roscoe HARVEY. The two surviving airmen were taken to a Wehrmacht barracks commanded by Oberleutnant Karl OTTO in the presence of Karl OTTO, an unknown German guard made arrangements to take the two remaining prisoners to the railroad station at or about 0500, on or about 22 March 1945. On the way to the railroad station, the two remaining airmen were again fired upon by ENDRESS and FUNDER. One of the airmen, believed to be Sgt. Roscoe HARVEY, was wounded in the (continued on page 2) abdomen and thigh, and the other airman, believed to be Capt. S.K. ANDERSON, escaped.

The wounded airman, believed to be Sgt. Roscoe HARVEY, was taken back to the wehrmacht barracks where Karl OTTO ordered that he was not to be seen by a doctor. In spite of Karl OTTO’s orders, a German doctor examined the wounded prisoner, found an abdominal wound and a thigh wound, and ordered the airman sent to a hospital. Under these orders, the wounded airman was started on his way to a hospital; however, the truck was stopped and the wounded airman returned to the barracks on orders from Karl OTTO. Karl OTTO reprimanded the doctor for attempting to aid the wounded airman. In the presence of Karl OTTO, ENDRESS said, “I will take the prisoner to the basement and shoot him”. Karl OTTO replied that he did not want the prisoner to be shot in the barracks.

At or about 1800 in the evening of 22 March 1945, Karl OTTO ordered the wounded airman sent to the hospital. Karl OTTO personally selected a driver for the truck and forbade a medical soldier to go along. In addition, Karl OTTO ordered an unknown German soldier, who was trying to get transportation to the vicinity of the hospital, to dismount from the truck. The unknown German driver was informed by Karl OTTO that the truck carrying the wounded airman would be stopped enroute by a German Military Policeman. On the way to the hospital, the truck was stopped by an unknown German Military Policeman who shot the wounded airman three times in his chest. The German Military Policeman stated that he was acting on orders from Karl OTTO. The airman, believed to be Sgt. Roscoe HARVEY, was dead when he reached the hospital at or about 2130, on or about 22 March 1945. He was buried in the cemetery of HEILFRONN. The driver of the truck refused to give his name to the hospital authorities stating that he did not want to be involved in the incident.

On or about 23 March 1945, the airman who had escaped on or about 22 March 1945, believed to be Capt. S.K. ANDERSON, was picked up by German police and placed in the City Jail at FRACKENHEIM. On or about 24 March 1945, a party composed of Karl OTTO, Heinz ENDRESS and others, left NECKARSULM in a car furnished by Karl OTTO to pick up the airman. At or near a place about 2.5 kilometers from DURRACHZIMMEN the car stopped on orders from Karl OTTO. Karl OTTO dismounted by the road and the remainder of the party took the airman into the woods where he was shot and killed. The dead airman was buried at or near the spot where he was killed.
(a) The accused committed the offense on his own initiative.

(b) The accused will probably deny having participated in the crimes in any way.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

a. In or about the latter part of May 1944, a captured, unknown, wounded United States airman was taken to a German dispensary commanded by the accused Dr. Max SCHUM, then a medical captain in the German Air Force in the town of MAJUISE, France. The accused, SCHUM, thereupon gave three injections to the unknown, injured United States airman causing his death within three minutes. These injections consisted of 10 cubic cm. gelatine, 5 cubic cm. atropin, and 1/25 cubic cm. strophantin. SCHUM admits never having given these injections to anyone before and further admits that any one of these injections given individually would kill a man, especially an injection of atropin. SCHUM further admits that the direct cause of the airman's death was the stopping of the blood circulation, which he states could be brought about by a strophantin injection.

b. The accused, SCHUM, with the aid of a male nurse, Willy RÜGER, then proceeded (continued on page 2) to sever the head from the body of this dead, unknown United States flyer by means of a saw. The next day the body minus the head was removed from the dispensary at 0900 hours by two soldiers of the Commandant, who had placed the body in an unsealed cadet and transported it by parachute to be buried in a local cemetery.

d. On the morning of the same day that this deceased body was removed from the dispensary, witness Marie WAGENER, who worked around the dispensary, was approached by the accused, SCHMID, and was requested to "light the boiler in the shower room in order to kill one of the flyer's heads." (WAGENER did not observe any corpses in the dispensary on this morning so it had already been removed at 0900 hours). Because of the absence of wood, WAGENER could not light the fire. After lunch he noticed a saw on rolling something on an electric stove. Witness Martin KARL VASEUR was present and later stated that they observed the head of a pilot rolling on the stove in the dispensary. SCHMID, although sober at the time, had remarked to witness HAYAT, "You will have to find parsley [sic], we shall cut it for supper." Thereafter WAGENER observed SCHMID and ROUS cleaning the skin from the skull in the shower room. An United States plane flew over the house, SCHMID pointed to the skull, laughing, and said, "American." The accused later cleaned the skull in hydrogen peroxide in order to bleach it. He thereafter sent it to the German hospital at MONTLHERY, France, for further treatment. The skull was returned to SCHMID in about a week's time and was placed on his desk. SCHMID, referring to the skull on his desk, remarked to witness HAYAT, "See, that is the head you saw boiling the other day". On or about 20 August 1944, SCHMID gave the skull to a German soldier named KEMMLER to deliver to SCHMID's wife in Germany as a souvenir.

d. Thereafter, on or about the 8th of June 1944, another unknown United States flyer was brought to the dispensary. Testimony of witness Marcel VASSEUR described how she had seen a dead United States flyer stretched out in the dispensary, operated by SCHMID on 6 June 1944. (It will be noted that this was coincident with the events described in Paragraph (a) above). VASSEUR did not observe any visible marks of violence on the body of this dead pilot, who was naked except for a pair of shorts. A few days prior to 6 June 1944, SCHMID had told VASSEUR, "From now on no American will leave the dispensary alive, because Americans are too cruel." (This apparently was about the time of the events described in (a) above). Later, VASSEUR also states that he too had seen the body of this United States flyer on 6 June 1944 and that he too had not noticed any visible marks of violence on the body of this dead pilot. SCHMID had stated to VASSEUR on several occasions, "If an American is brought to the dispensary I will not take care of him, but will kill him with an injection." However, VASSEUR states that she had entered the shower room of the dispensary on 6 June 1944 and that she too had not noticed any visible marks of violence on the body of this dead pilot. SCHMID had stated to VASSEUR several times, "If an American is brought to the dispensary I will not take care of him, but will kill him with an injection." VASSEUR did not observe that the flyer had been in a mine field and was wounded in the leg, which wound caused his death. However, VASSEUR had the grave diggers, KEMMLER and KITZ, bury the body over just before they put the body in the coffin and she observed that there were no wounds on the legs. SCHMID then told VASSEUR, "From now on all killed flyers will have the same fate." He further stated, "How can you feel sorry for a barbarian who killed so many of yours?" One of the male German nurses present was a Pvt. Josef BACH, she stated to HAYAT, the day the body was found in the dispensary, "This man was in perfect health and a few minutes later he was dead." He added, "Why don't you take the pistol in the drawer to prove the culpability of the doctors?"
NOTES ON THE CASE

(a) The accused SCHMID committed the offense on his own initiative.

(b) SCHMID's defense will probably be that the injections were given to the wounded pilot with the intention of saving the pilot's life. He will probably counter with the fact that there is but one flyer involved in this case and that the existence of a second flyer is not substantiated.

(c) The case appears to be reasonably complete.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 21 July 1944, four flyers bailed out of a disabled bomber in the vicinity of BAUERBACH, Germany, U.S. Zone. One was killed by the effects of the fall; the three survivors were captured, and at least two of them were taken to the Rathaus in BAUERBACH for interrogation. One of the latter, 2nd Lt. Orville E. INGRA, Jr., ASN C-765788, was interrogated by Karl BAUMGARTNER. Upon INGRA's refusal to divulge military information, BAUMGARTNER struck the flyer about the head and shoulders with his fist and continued to beat him a half-hour. The flyer was knocked down twice, sustaining contusions, bruises and lacerations of the head and shoulders. S/Sgt. Frank PAKLONSKY, ASN 1215754, refused to divulge military information and was beaten in the same fashion by BAUMGARTNER and two other unidentified German civilians.
NOTES ON THE CASE

(Under this heading should be included the view taken as to (a) the degree of responsibility of the accused in view of his official position, e.g., was offence committed on the offender’s own initiative, or in obedience to orders, or in carrying out a system approved by authority or a legal provision; (b) the probable defence; (c) whether the case appears to be reasonably complete.)

(a) The accused BAUGAERTNER committed the offence on his own initiative.

(b) BAUGAERTNER will admit he struck one flyer a light blow on the left shoulder with his right hand but will deny inflicting a beating on either flyer at the Rathaus.

(c) The case appears to be reasonably complete.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 11 July 1945, a United States air crew member, believed to be 1st Lt. James E. DALE, safely parachuted to earth from his disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of LUDENHAUSEN, Germany. Karl STERN took his car and accompanied by his brother, Josef STERN, both armed with rifles, left Karl STERN's home in LUDENHAUSEN and drove immediately to the place where the airman landed. When they reached the scene, both Karl STERN and Josef STERN got out of the automobile with rifles in their hands. The airman, after landing and while in the act of releasing himself from his parachute, saw Karl STERN sitting at his car and stood facing Karl STERN with his hands over his head in token of surrender. Karl STERN fired two shots at DALE one of them hitting him in the head and he fell to the ground. After he was on the ground, Josef STERN, standing near his brother Karl STERN, fired one shot at DALE hitting him in the back. DALE died of these wounds.

On or about 15 April 1945, a United States airman, Captain Everett S. LINDELY, crash landed near HILDORF, Germany, United States Zone and was captured. ZIEBNET and GILCH, of the German Volkssturm, were ordered to take him by car to a nearby village near HILDORF. The airman was beaten about the head with fists by an unknown German civilian. Later the airman was taken in a car by ZIEBNET and GILCH in the direction of HILDORF. After a ride of about five minutes duration, the car was halted and the airman ordered out. GILCH fired a pistol shot at him, which missed. ZIEBNET and GILCH pursued the airman who jumped a nearby ditch, faced his captors and indicated he was not attempting to escape. ZIEBNET and GILCH then started firing and one pistol shot took effect, striking the airman in the left shoulder. The airman turned and ran, his captors following in hot pursuit and firing indiscriminately. The chase ended near the bank of a small river, where the airman grappled with his captors and wrested ZIEBNET’s pistol from him. Once in the possession of the pistol, the airman covered his captors who ran to the barnyard nearly where a mixed crowd of approximately 10 soldiers and civilians had assembled and were observing the incident. The airman walked towards the crowd and halted in the middle of a small bridge not far from the barnyard. His attention was directed to the gestures of Josef KETTNER, a farmer, who beckoned to the airman to come to him and yelled "nix shoot". After much persuasion the airman approached the crowd, surrendered the captured pistol to Wehrmacht Sgt. Josef Maxmillian KETTNER (son of the above mentioned KETTNER), and had his wounds dressed by him.

The following day the airman was interrogated by Feldwebel (Sgt) RUGER, relative to the incident with the SA men and the Wehrmacht Sgt. previously mentioned, and RUGER stated the SA men were "out to get" the Wehrmacht Sgt. for interfering with their plans to dispose of LINDNER, and the Sgt. would be hanged.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

In October or November 1944, an Allied prisoner of war, believed to be Alex MAIKOWSKY, allegedly an American, was transferred to the prisoner of war camp XOSBURG, near MUNCHEN, Germany, and with other prisoners of war was engaged in clearing work in the city of MUNCHEN. During an air raid the deceased escaped. Subsequently the criminal police of SALZBURG staged a raid on the inns in SALZBURG and the deceased was picked up. Although an order was given that he be returned to the prisoner of war camp, the accused WEIDMANN intervened and prohibited his transfer. WEIDMANN ordered that he be delivered to the police jail at SALZBURG where he was to remain under special guard at the disposal of WEIDMANN. The next morning at 0515 hours, the deceased was taken by accused GOERL, LAARS and WEIDMANN to a point on the autobahn near the town of SALZBURG where he was shot and killed by GOERL, LAARS, and WEIDMANN.

The above named accused, between the 9th day of December 1941 and the 8th day of May 1945, at sundry places within the then German Reich, individually and collectively, as principals, accessories, leaders, organizers, instigators and accomplices, did engage in, formulate and participate in a common plan or design to commit, or cause to be committed, violations of the Laws and Usages of War, and pursuant thereto did deliberately and wrongfully encourage, aid, abet, order and participate in, or took a consenting part in the subjection of members of the Armed Forces of the United States of America, who were then and there surrendered and unarmed prisoners of war in the custody of the then German Reich, to cruelties and mistreatment, including, killings, beatings, tortures, abuses and indignities.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS (12-3218, WEISENBACH (1), 12-3219, WEISENBACH (2) and 12-3219, OBERTSRÖT (1)) CONTINUED

a. Heinrich R. WAGNER was gauleiter of Gau Baden and through him the Martin BORMANN order that captured Allied airmen should not be treated as prisoners of war but that the people should be aroused to "spontaneous action" to kill such flyers, was given to each of the Kreisleiters, Hans ROTHACKER of Kreis BUTZWEILER and Heinrich DIEFFENBACHER of Kreis RASTATT, who then transmitted it to the Ortsgruppenleiters Adolf EIMMANN, Franz WEILAND, Hans JUNGLING, Julius RAZZEK, and Heinrich STICHLING, and Kurt OVERLACK, Kreisleiter, all of the GREISBACH, WEISENBACH, OBERTSRÖT, HILBERTSHAUSEN, Germany area, who in turn passed the order on to the people in public meetings. Dr. Hans MERKLE, an SS Sturmführer, appeared at such public meetings and actively incited the people to kill any Allied airmen captured by them, and particularly explaining the HINDENBURG order which prohibited the police from interfering to protect a flyer. A "Rollkommando" (Pursuit Troop) had also been organized by Kreisleiter DIEFFENBACHER for the special purpose of killing flyers where the people did not act, and also where necessary, to overcome police protection. Such were the conditions and organization under the direction of the above named members of the Leadership Corps of the German Reich in the area above mentioned on or about 9 August 1944 when three United States airmen were forced to parachute from a disabled bomber and land in the vicinity of the German towns above named. Each of the three airmen was beaten by a group of German civilians until practically dead, and then finished off with a shot in the head or neck. The method of operation was the same in each case. An Ortsgruppenleiter appeared on the scene and proceeded to incite mob violence by abusive language and by starting an assault on the airman. Members of the Rollkommando did the actual killing in two of the cases.

b. Another flyer, believed to be Sgt. Robert A. McDONOUGH, ASN 11120761, on the same day, i.e., on or about 9 August 1944, came down a hill called "SCHOENKOPF", a short distance west of WEISENBACH. At first he was not mistreated, but, being wounded, was assisted by the civilians who arrived. But the accused Adolf EIMMANN, Ortsgruppenleiter, arrived and began to work up a mob. With him was also Ortsgruppenleiter WEILAND. EIMMANN shouted, "Here are the men who murder women and children". "Throw the dog down, the dog can walk". WEILAND and Franz DECK cursed the flyer. SIEGMANN again said, "He must not leave this place alive, and everybody who has no business here is to disappear". Under this threat the others, including women and children, left the scene. Left with the flyer were the accused SIEGMANN, Franz WEILAND, Hermann KNEB, Alois BERSTER, Rudolf RICKER, Franz DECK, and Isidor KLUGER. The policeman Johann BOSCH was on the road at the foot of the hill afraid to interfere. The flyer was beaten by those accused with clubs and stones; he managed to stumble and roll down the hill, followed by the assassins, until he was on the road near the policeman, where Alois BERSTER shot him through the head with a pistol. The murderers covered the body with weeds and went back to WEISENBACH.

c. Also on or about 9 August 1944, the third victim, believed to be Sgt. Kenneth L. PALMER, ASN 13075655, landed near OBERTSROT, a neighboring village to WEISENBACH. As the parachute descended, Kreisamtsleiter Kurt OVERLACK saw it and called Ortsgruppenleiter STIMING by telephone, who in turn called the "Rollkommando" (Pursuit Troop), composed of Obersturmführer POEPPEL, Matthias GÖTZEN, Wilhelmer SCHÖN, and Fritz KERN, and ordered them into action. In the meantime, OVERLACK sent his employee Leo REIF to the landing place armed with a pistol. Among the first to reach the airman was the local policemen David REIFGART and Hans JUNGER joined in the assault, each cursing the flyer and striking him. Fritz KERN spit in the flyer's face. To a German soldier who protested RATERK said, "we must beat him to death". It was the unmistakable intent of RATER, JUNGER, REIF, and KERN to beat the flyer to death on the spot, but Sebastian GRUBER arrived and went to the assistance of the policeman. The two were able to rescue the flyer from the mob at this point. REIFGART then took the prisoner away, but the Rollkommando had now gotten into action. On the way to join this group, Fritz KERN went by OVERLACK's factory where another employee, the accused Xaver GOTZ, provided him with a "spanner wrench" with the words, "Kill him". The Rollkommando met WEISENBACH and the flyer, just outside OBERTSROT. POEPPEL assaulted the policeman, while GOTZEN, SCHÖN, and KERN began beating the flyer; KERN with the wrench that GOTZ had given him, and the others with clubs. They pushed the airman off the road into a turnip field and proceeded to beat him to death. After the airman was probably already dead, POEPPEL shot him.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 5 June 1944, an unidentified Allied airman parachuted from a disabled plane in the vicinity of MONS, Belgium and landed in the town of MONS on the roof of a house opposite the barracks of the Light Cavalry (Chasseur a Cheval). His parachute became entangled in the chimney and he clung to a drain-pipe. RÜSTER approached the house, saw the airman, drew his pistol and very calmly fired one round at him. The airman dropped to the ground and lay motionless. Members of the Gestapo and German soldiers threw him into a truck and drove him to a German military hospital located in the school of St. Ferdinand in JEMEPES, Belgium. There he was brutally removed from the truck, admitted to the hospital, X-rayed and before an operation could be performed he died.

On or about 21 April 1945, about 180 United States prisoners of war in custody of a German guard detachment stopped for the night in a barn at BLECHHAMEH, near PULLENIZIED, Germany, U.S. Zone. When the prisoners were assembled to move the next morning, 22 April 1945, two were missing. Three guards were left to look for the missing prisoners, with orders not to hurt anybody. About half an hour later a group of about 60 Hitler Youth under command of Karl MUELLER camped at the same barn. When it was learned that two American prisoners of war were probably hiding in the barn, a search was ordered by MUELLER, and the youths, probing with forks and bayonets in the hay, found the two prisoners. The prisoners were unarmed and offered no resistance. MUELLER, NUSSEBAUM, and two or three others marched the two Americans 400 or 500 meters away from the barn, where they were shot and killed by MUELLER and NUSSEBAUM.

On or about 19 October 1944, a United States airman of unknown identity bailed out of a disabled plane at or near EPPSTEIN/Taunus, Germany, US Zone. He was surrounded by a mob, which beat and abused him. LOEBER was the ringleader. He struck the airman in the face and kicked him, and also used a club, while BAUM was active in striking at the victim's face with his hand. A number of SS men participated in the assault. ALBRECHT participated in the assault. The flyer was bleeding freely after the assault, and his features were unrecognizable. He was taken in a car to WIEBRAUN, Germany, U.S. Zone, by SS man KRAUSE, who on his return said, "I have given him the finishing stroke, tomorrow he will not be any longer".

In or about October 1944, four captured United States Army paratroopers, Pfc. Ralph CRUSE, Pfc. Ernest FUNTURU, Pvt. Orin MANNING, and Pvt. Carl REMBERG, escaped from a train and were recaptured near BUDESHEIM, Germany, United States Zone. They escaped, were recaptured and taken to Police Barracks at HANAU, Germany, where they were beaten. LOSER, who was then Landrat of HANAU, beat REMBERG with a pair of aluminum knuckles and CRUSE with a riding whip until CRUSE fell on the floor from weakness. LOSER then struck FUNTURU across the head repeatedly where he had previously been wounded, knocking him down and kicking him into unconsciousness and the whole time calling him a Jew. MANNING was beaten by LOSER and forced by him to jump into an icy stream and look for rifles. All four of the airmen were locked up on order of LOSER and received no medical treatment nor water or food for a period of twenty-four hours.

On or about 18 September 1944, eight glider planes transporting members of 320th Glider Field Artillery, 82nd Div., United States Army, landed near LIUSINDORP, Germany, 21 miles from their original destination, GROSSEBKE, Holland. The party commandeered a farmhouse in adjacent KEPPLEN, Germany. The evening of the same day the paratroopers were captured by members of the local and SS Police, the latter comprising the Ploeger Co., commanded by Lt. Heinz PLOEGER. They were lined up in rows of threes and searched. During conduct of search, Josef EILERS, one of the SS Police of Ploeger Co., suddenly stepped back and, without provocation, fired his rifle into chest of 1st Sgt. Marion H. LAMM. The United States POWs were then marched to schoolhouse in KEPPLEN. Sgt. LAMM, severely wounded, was assisted on the way by four of his comrades but died on reaching the schoolhouse. Josef EILERS in his two signed statements confesses to killing of Sgt. LAMM.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 15 June 1944, the plane in which Lt. William D. ALLEN, S/Sgt. David F. GIBSON and John S. SUTTON, United States airmen, were flying was set afire by anti-aircraft fire over NANTES, France. They bailed out and landed near the village of LA VILLABEAU which is about two kilometers north of BRAINS, France. They went to a French house where they were advised by French civilians to hide in the woods until dark. While the three airmen were lying in the woods about 50 yards from the edge, GIBSON heard what sounded like two cars. He awakened his two comrades. The searching party consisting of Erich CAUMANN, three or four French police and some civilians, walked near the airmen three or four times. Erich CAUMANN stepped up to about three feet from the airmen and shot ALLEN in the chest, killing him. He also shot SUTTON in both legs, which resulted in crippling him. At the time of the shooting ALLEN had his hands raised and SUTTON was in the act of raising his hands. None of the airmen were armed.

CASE No. 429

Date and place of commission of alleged crime.

On or about 15 August 1944 near WOLFSHEIM, France.

Number and description of crime in war crimes list.

Murder

References to relevant provisions of national law.

Violation of the Laws and Customs of War.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

An unknown United States airman bailed out of a bomber on 14 August 1944 and came down in WOLFSHEIM, Alsace, France, and surrendered to and was hidden by French patriots. He was seen by collaborationists and reported to the German Gendarmerie. Prior to this time secret orders had been passed down to all Precinct Chiefs of the German Gendarmerie in the Alsace that the captured Allied flyers were to be killed by murder details. According to ISENMANN, the order was worded to the effect that the practice of turning captured Allied flyers over to the Wehrmacht was revoked and the capture of flyers was to be reported to either the Gestapo or the REI Headquarters in STRASBOURG. This report was to be made by telephoning a secret number and the nature of the message was to be indicated by the code word "OMEN". The agency receiving the call would send out a murder detail dressed as civilians to meet the Gendarmerie guard and the flyer at some point along a designated road, seize the airman and carry him to an appropriate place to murder him. When the presence of the flyer was reported the Leutnant in charge, Karl Josef REBEL, and Captain Otto ISENMANN.

Chief of the STRASBOURG Precinct, took a detail out and arrested the flyer in the house of Monsieur HIDE. Although the flyer made no move to escape or defend himself, Lt. REBEL struck him in the face. ISNEMANN then called the Gestapo office in STRASBOURG and received the answer, "It will be attended to". ISNEMANN had previously told REBEL of the secret order and to expect the murder detail. The murder detail arrived at the Police Station in WOLFIHREM about two o'clock in the morning of 15 August 1944, consisting of about four or five men. The leader introduced himself to ISNEMANN and told him that he was ordered to remove the flyer and kill him. ISNEMANN replied, "Do what you will". The detail departed with the flyer. The body of the flyer was found the next morning on the outskirts of WOLFIHREM, partly buried. This fact was reported to Ernst MEIER, Commander of the Security Police, who told ISNEMANN that he had done a good job and arranged the removal of the body of the airman from WOLFIHREM to the NATZWEILER Concentration Camp, where it was found to have one gunshot wound through the left thigh and one through the left temple, after which the body was presumably cremated.

(a) The accused ISERMANN and REBEL committed the offense in obedience to superior orders.

(b) ISERMANN will claim superior orders. REBEL will probably interpose the defense that he did not know of the orders and had nothing to do with the murder of the flyer and will deny the allegations of ISERMANN.

SIMMONS, ASN 0-744761, bailed out of his disabled plane at an approximate altitude of 400 meters, parachuted to the earth and, when his parachute, which had not fully opened, caught fire, he landed forcibly on the ground in the vicinity of MICHELFEID, Germany, United States Zone, and was probably severely injured upon landing. Karl MACK, a German civilian, ran to the spot where the airman lay and beat him severely on the head with a club. Friedrich HARTMANN beat SIMMONS on the head with a pole. When reproached by Johann WURST, Karl MACK said, "You are a bunch of cowards". MACK told another, "This fellow won't do anything more because I gave him what was coming to him". On or about 6 September 1943 an unknown United States airman parachuted from a damaged plane in the vicinity of DETTINGEN, Germany, French Zone. He landed in a valley approximately one kilometer from HUELLEN, Germany, French Zone. SCHMAUDER, who was at that time a soldier on furlough, saw the airman descending and went by bicycle in the direction he presumed they would land. He climbed one of the trees in a forest along a mountain side and from there saw smoke from a burning plane in the valley below. After he came down from the tree and proceeded a short distance, he heard a shot approximately 30 to 40 meters ahead of him. He returned to HUELLEN, borrowed a rifle and proceeded again to the spot from which he heard the shot. There he found an unconscious but still living United States airman lying face against the ground. SCHMAUDER stood behind the airman and fired one shot which hit him in the neck, killing him instantly.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

In or about the summer of 1944 an unknown United States airman, whose plane had crashed, was captured in or about the town of Ruhjen, Germany, British Zone. Among his captors were WINTER, KLOPP, Otto MUELLER, Albert MUELLER, and another. These five Germans set upon the defenseless captured airman and began to beat him severely about the head, back and legs with a cane or wooden stick about three feet long and two inches thick; they also beat him with their fists and the ropes from the parachute. This continued for about 20-30 minutes until the airman fell to the ground. He was pulled up by his ears by the above mentioned perpetrators who shouted "Up dog", "Beat the dog hard", and other derogatory remarks. As he was pulled up, he was beaten again. Finally, the airman in a weakened and bloody condition and being unable to walk was taken to the local police on a bicycle.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 24 August 1944, at approximately 1200 hours, two unknown air crew members, believed to be Americans, safely parachuted to earth from their disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of Schmedenstedt, Germany, British Zone. Both airmen were immediately taken prisoners of war by Wilhelm NEUTZE, a German policeman, and Ewald HAMIS, Hans HOLLER, Wilhelm HOLZHAUSEN, Heinrich LOBACH, and Heinz Franz Herbert MINX, SS officers. HAMIS, HOLLER, LOBACH, and MINX placed the two airmen in an automobile and drove from Schmedenstedt to a point on the east side of the road between Schmedenstedt and Muenstedt where both airmen were killed by being shot through their chests by accused MINX. The bodies of the two airmen were left lying in a ditch but were later buried by civilians in an unmarked grave. They were disinterred 28 April 1945 and reburied in the 9th Army cemetery, Margraten, Holland.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 16 April 1945, a United States airman, believed to be Captain Chester E. COGESHALL, made a forced landing with a damaged plane in the vicinity of SILLERSDORF, Germany, a small village about five kilometers from FREILASSING, Kreis BERCHTESGADEN, Germany. He was wounded, but not seriously. He was captured by the local Gendarmerie and German soldiers, put on a stretcher, and taken in an armored car to FREILASSING. There he was brought to the schoolhouse which at that time was being used as Company Headquarters of the 1st Panzer Reconnaissance Company of the 7th Panzer Reconnaissance Replacement and Training Battalion. German soldiers, belonging to the 1st Panzer Reconnaissance Company attempted to remove the airman to the dispensary but were prevented from doing so by KOBUS, Ortsgruppenleiter and Burgermeister of FREILASSING.

Lt. BOEHM, Company Commander of the 1st Panzer Reconnaissance Company, arrived at the scene at this moment. Lt. Von MASSOW, who was a member of this unit arrived shortly thereafter. BOEHM, von MASSOW, and KOBUS conferred in private. KOBUS told BOEHM and von MASSOW that he had been ordered by STREDEL, Kreisleiter of Kreis BERCHTESGADEN, to "finish the pilot". BOEHM replied, "These orders of the Kreisleiter are known to us". BOEHM ordered von MASSOW to place the wounded airman back on the vehicle and to drive to a meadow near a woods on the outskirts of town. KOBUS rode at once in that direction on his bicycle. Von MASSOW, accompanied by two recruits and a driver, followed with the airman in the armored car. After they entered the woods, KOBUS fired two shots into the head of the airman, killing him instantly.

(a) Accused KOBM, Von MASSOW and KOBUS apparently committed the offense in obedience to superior orders.

(b) There is nothing in the file to indicate what the defense of KOBM, KOBUS and STREDELE will be. Von MASSOW will probably claim superior orders.

Number and description of crime in war crimes list.

Murder

References to relevant provisions of national law.

Violation of the Laws and Customs of War.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 25 September 1944, at or about noontime, a United States air crew member, believed to be Homer W. GOFF, ASN 0-717779, safely parachuted to earth from his disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of CRAMME, Germany. REUPEE, an agricultural worker, arrived on the scene and helped the airman from his parachute. Later DORNTE, an auxiliary policeman, arrived on the scene, searched the airman and found him unarmed. DORNTE took the airman to CRAMME, Germany, and made a report by telephone to LUETHE, a Gendarmerie official. LUETHE arrived in CRAMME, Germany, about fifteen minutes after receiving the telephone call from DORNTE. About this time BODE, the Ortsgruppenleiter of CRAMME, Germany, and two German soldiers from an antiaircraft unit arrived at DORNTE's house where the airman was being detained. The airman was not turned over to the German soldiers but was taken by LUETHE and BODE to BODE's house and locked in the coal cellar, where he was left unguarded while LUETHE and BODE searched the vicinity for other airmen. LUETHE and BODE returned to BODE's house about 1500 hours. The airman was still in the coal cellar where they had locked him about two hours previously. At no time does it appear that the airman made any attempt to escape, although it does appear that the door to the cellar in which he was held was weak and might have been forced. LTJEN made a telephone call to an unknown person announcing his intention of taking the airman to WOLFSBURG, Germany. WOLFSBURG is about thirteen kilometers by the main road or about nine kilometers by a forest path from GRAZ. At this time there was horse drawn transportation available to LTJEN, but he chose to walk the now barefooted airman by the forest path to WOLFSBURG. LTJEN walked the airman about five hundred meters into the forest, shot him through the head at very close range and returned with the story that the airman had attempted to escape and was shot at a range of about thirty meters.

NOTES ON THE CASE

(a) The accused LUETHJE committed the offense on his own initiative.

(b) LUETHJE will claim that the airmen was trying to escape and that he was shot, while running away, at a distance of about thirty meters.

(c) The case appears to be reasonably complete.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Statement of Facts Number 1:

On or about 31 July 1944 a B-24 United States bomber crashed in the vicinity of SAARBRÜCKEN, Germany, French Zone, and crew members 1st Lt. Emil BERRY, 2nd Lt. John D. GOOD and 2/Sgt. Lewis FULLER landed safely by parachute. GOOD was taken into custody in MALSTATT, Germany, a suburb of SAARBRÜCKEN; BERRY was taken into custody in nearby HURBACH; and FULLER was taken into custody in WEMDERSWILLER, in the vicinity of RHINHILD, Germany, French Zone. In a meeting previous to 31 July 1944, one KOLLER had impressed on his subordinates that, by virtue of orders from Police President Dr. Fritz DIETRICH of SAARBRÜCKEN, all enemy aviators were not to be relinquished to the Wehrmacht, but that in the future they were to be reported to police headquarters in SAARBRÜCKEN, whence orders relative to their disposition would be issued.

When apprised of the airmen being in custody, DIETRICH ordered SS Standartenführer...

STATEMENT OF FACTS (Cont'd)

Willy STEMMER to have GOOD and BERRY shot. In compliance, STEMMER called SS Untersturmführer Karl HUNSICKER and ordered him to shoot the airmen. HUNSICKER in turn called upon SS Untersturmführer Fritz DINTINGER and SS Rottenführer Albert ELI to participate in the murders.

HUNSICKER, DINTINGER and ELI drove first to the police station in MALSTATT where they received airman GOOD from Police Captain MUELLER. The party then proceeded to the woods of The Seven Oaks in suburban SAARBRÜCKEN where HUNSICKER shot and killed the airman.

HUNSICKER, DINTINGER and ELI then drove to the police station in BURBACH where BERRY was turned over to HUNSICKER. With BERRY in custody the group departed for the Schwarzer Weg, a lonely section of woods in the SAARBRÜCKEN area where HUNSICKER and DINTINGER shot and killed the airman.

At SS Standarte 85 STEMMER informed HUNSICKER, DINTINGER and ELI that another enemy flyer was in custody in NEUNKIRCHEN and that he too must be shot. In obedience, HUNSICKER, DINTINGER and ELI promptly drove to police headquarters in NEUNKIRCHEN where airman PULSIPHER was placed in HUNSICKER's custody by WANDEL in compliance with orders from SAARBRÜCKEN.

With PULSIPHER in custody HUNSICKER, DINTINGER and ELI drove in the direction of SAARBRÜCKEN, but stopped at a woods near BILDSTOCK in the vicinity of the Saarbrünnen Mine where HUNSICKER ordered PULSIPHER from the car and told him to walk ahead into the woods. HUNSICKER and ELI fired several shots into the body of the airman and left, believing him dead.

The same day, when informed that PULSIPHER was still alive, Oberleutnant SCHOEPFER of the NEUNKIRCHEN police apprised WANDEL of the situation. WANDEL ordered SCHOEPFER to call SAARBRÜCKEN for instructions and WANDEL spoke personally to Police Captain KLEIN. In consequence of these conversations DIETRICH and STEMMER dispatched KLEIN and a certain Dr. Otto ZEITZER to the scene with instructions to ZEITZER that the airman be killed by overdoses of morphine. The amount, number and effect of the injections were discussed at some length. ZEITZER offered no protest to STEMMER's method of action. DIETRICH ordered KLEIN to accompany ZEITZER on this mission.

When KLEIN and ZEITZER arrived at the mine, PULSIPHER was still alive and conscious. ZEITZER administered a shot to the flyer and said that everything would be over in half an hour. Ten minutes later ZEITZER said to KLEIN, "We can't leave. The airman is still completely conscious". In that the injection had been stronger than usual, ZEITZER presented an appearance of impatience and annoyance because it produced unfavorable results. He explained to KLEIN that he had given the flyer a double dose and that he was surprised there was no change in the airman's position. Thereupon a second injection was administered, but no other treatment was attempted. When death did not come, PULSIPHER was transported to SAARBRÜCKEN where ZEITZER reported to STEMMER that the airman was still alive. STEMMER then ordered JEANROUD to kill the flyer. JEANROUD refused. At that moment HUNSICKER entered and STEMMER berated him for doing a bad job. HUNSICKER cooled STEMMER by telling him that he would take care of the matter once and for all and said that he had a man downstairs who would finish the job, and with that, HUNSICKER and JEANROUD left.

HUNSICKER and JEANROUD entered HUNSICKER's car while ELI and a certain Ludwig ZINNEMAN entered the personnel carrier in which PULSIPHER was lying. The group drove to the firing range of the SS Standarte 85 in Ludwigspark. Then HUNSICKER ordered ELI to administer a "mercy" shot to PULSIPHER and ELI complied by firing one shot into the airman's head, killing him.

The bodies of all three airmen were buried in the Waldfriedhof Cemetery in BURBACH from which they were disinterred by the Graves Registration Command and reburied at the United States Military Cemetery in St. AVOLD, France.

Statement of Facts Number 2:

On or about 25 August 1944 four United States airmen, believed to be T/Sgt. Charles E. WYATT, Jr., 38299233, Sgt. Willard R. FETTERHOFF, 36595057, Sgt. Ted ZEMONEK, 35767441 and Pvt. Jack A. MAXWELL, 14056809 parachuted to earth from (Continued on Page 3) their disabled plane and were captured in the vicinity of SAARBRUECKEN, Germany, French Zone. The flyers were taken into custody at the Fifth Police Reviere in SAARBRUECKEN/BURRACH, Germany.

Dr. Fritz DIETRICH, Police President of SAARBRUECKEN learned of the flyers being in custody while in an air raid shelter with STEMMLER. DIETRICH ordered STEMMLER to pick up the flyers and shoot them. When STEMMLER objected to this method of action, DIETRICH urged, "Look around and see if you can find somebody to do this for you, but take off now," and added that in this matter he did not need a summary court sentence, but that his personal order was sufficient.

In compliance with the orders of DIETRICH and under the direction of STEMMLER the flyers, together with one Friedrich GROSS, a German guard, climbed into the rear of a police truck driven by Fritz DUCHENE for transport to an undisclosed destination. Erich MOHR sat in front with DUCHENE. STEMMLER and Karl HUNSICKER entered HUNSICKER's sedan and with the truck following proceeded in the direction of CLARENTHAL, Germany, French Zone. HUNSICKER stopped his car and the truck at a deserted spot approximately two kilometers beyond CLARENTHAL on the road to GROSSROSELIN, Germany, French Zone. STEMMLER ordered the airmen to march abreast along a trail leading into the woods and STEMMLER and HUNSICKER fired about 15 shots at the airmen, killing them.

The bodies were buried in the WALDFRIEDHOF Cemetery in BURRACH from which, on 21 July 1945, they were disinterred by American authorities.
NOTES ON THE CASE

(Under this heading should be included the view taken as to (a) the degree of responsibility of the accused in view of his official position, e.g., was offence committed on the offender's own initiative, or in obedience to orders, or in carrying out a system approved by authority or a legal provision; (b) the probable defence; (c) whether the case appears to be reasonably complete.)

(a) All of the accused committed the offense in obedience to superior orders.

(b) Case No. 12-1545

DIETRICH will probably deny knowledge or implication in any way. WANDEL will claim superior orders. KLEIN will claim superior orders. HUNSICKER, DINTINGER and ELI will probably either deny participation or attempt to minimize their part in the killings. STEMLER will plead superior orders and attempt to minimize his participation in the killings. ZEITZER will claim that he gave the shots to allay pain and not to kill.

Case No. 12-2272

DIETRICH will plead ignorance of the murders and will deny that he issued the order to STEMLER leading to the killing of the four flyers. STEMLER will plead superior orders. HUNSICKER will deny participation in the killings.

(c) The case appears to be reasonably complete.

CASE No. 445 *

Name of accused, his rank and unit, or official position.

1. Ludwig Johann Michael ENGELHARD, German civilian.
2. Wilhelm SCHMITZ, German civilian.

Date and place of commission of alleged crime.

On or about 27 MAY 1944 near MONTZEN, Belgium

References to relevant provisions of national law.

Violation of the Laws and Customs of War.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 27 May 1944 an unknown United States airman bailed out of his disabled plane and landed on a road between HOMBURG and MONTZEN, Belgium. He immediately picked up his parachute and left the road, going over a hedgerow which paralleled the road. The suspect, ENGELHARD, who was the Station Chief in the Customs Station "G" in HOMBURG-SUEDE, near MONTZEN, observed the airman as he was parachuting, and immediately set out in the direction where the flyer was landing. On the way he met Wilhelm SCHMITZ, another customs man, and together they proceeded in a mail automobile towards the spot where the airman had landed. Within 25 to 30 meters of the landing spot, they stopped the truck, dismounted and advanced up the road until they were about 4 to 5 meters from the airman, who by this time had left the road and was behind the hedgerow lying on his parachute on the ground. ENGELHARD then called and gestured to the flyer to raise his hands and as the flyer got up with his hands raised, ENGELHARD, without any reason, shot and killed the airman.

On or about 23 December 1944, four United States airmen, believed to be Erick C. SWENSON, Pasquale J. CAIRENO, Charles F. CELESTE, and Melvin M. MURPHY, parachuted to earth safely in the vicinity of DAUN, Germany. BURTON, safely parachuted to earth from their disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of LA VILLEAVIC, near NANCY, France. A searching party consisting of French CRIMINES, Bernard濕, and French parachutists arrived in the area. ALLENI approached within the group of Frenchmen where the airmen were hiding, was one of them and began shooting. ALLENI and CRIMINES attempted to aim with their rifles over their heads, but while doing so ALLENI began firing at them. On or about 20 July 1944, a United States bomber was disabled over FRIEDENHAFEN, Germany. Two of the crew members landed and were captured near RADDENFEL, Germany. Dr. Kurt GROSS, Acting Commandant of the SS school at RADDENFEL, Germany, sent a written order to his Adjutant, Eduard HATLES, as follows, "to be picked up by Obersturmführer HATLES; to be shot while escaping". HATLES passed this order on to HATLES who picked up SLEPTZER, drove to OSTERBERG, Germany, and obtained possession of the two airmen. The truck was driven by ASPER with HATLES sitting in the cab. The truck was equipped with seats running perpendicular to the long axis of the truck. SLEPTZER and PAINTER were seated just behind the cab facing to the rear of the truck, and the two airmen were seated just in front of the tail gate facing to the rear of the truck. On the way back to the SS barracks, the two airmen were shot and killed by SLEPTZER and PAINTER and either fell out of the truck or were pushed out. The bodies were brought to RADDENFEL and later buried secretly in the cemetery for criminals at RADDENFEL. GROSS ordered a sign "Air Gunners" placed over the graves. His investigation was made of the incident by GROSS. GROSS was later heard to say that HATLES was responsible because he killed the two airmen.

Violation of the Law and Customs of War

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 29 August 1944, two United States airmen were taken into custody by Heinrich Born, Bürgermeister of TREBUR, Germany, U.S. Zone, who together with Georg Sturz, Johann SIGLE, Thomas WERNER and Heinrich SIEBENARGER transported the airmen to GROSS GERAU, Germany, where they were placed in the hands of local police officials. The GROSS GERAU police paraded the airmen through the town and acquiesced when the airmen were beaten and mistreated by the irate townspeople. The airmen were then taken to the courtyard of the city hall where they were bludgeoned to death by Georg Sturz and Heinrich Flumans. An iron bar was used to commit the murders. On the return to TREBUR, STURZ remarked to BORN that in killing the airmen he avenged his brother’s death.

ALTENA fired one shot at the flyer, causing him to lurch forward a few steps toward ALTENA. Between 3 and 4 shots more the flyer fell to the ground groaning with pain. ALTENA appealed to the crowd to bear witness that the flyer had attacked him with a dagger. Witness Maria BULLINGER attempted to render aid, she was told by ALTENA not to soil her hands. disabled plane in the vicinity of HAIBROTH, Germany. He was promptly apprehended by a searching party, although the airman was struck, kicked and abused by his captors, he suffered no serious injuries therefrom. He was brought before the local Bürgermeister who directed ROOS and MÖCH to deliver him to KEEL, Germany. MÖCH and ROOS telephoned the gendarmerie at KAMEL for instructions and were told to proceed along the road from HAIBROTH toward KEEL and were advised that a gendarme from KAMEL would meet them enroute. At a point about 3 kilometers outside of KAMEL they were met by OTTE and LANG. At this time OTTE remarked; "You should have shot the flyer - - ", whereupon OTTE and LANG took custody of the airman. After the trio had walked some distance toward town OTTE drew his pistol and shot the airman in the back of the head, killing him instantly. Before shooting the airman OTTE remarked to LANG "This is sad that one must act in this way, but today I must perform the order of the Kreisleiter, or else it costs my head".

Late in 1944 and in the beginning of 1945 KREISLEITER KOCH told the Ortsgruppenleiters under his jurisdiction"I do not want any flyers brought alive to BAD SCHWALBACH". Issuance of said order by KOCH was common knowledge.

Short Statement of Facts:

On or about 1 March 1945, an United States Mustang pilot safely parachuted from his disabled plane in the vicinity of Rotenberg, Germany, U.S. Zone. After surrendering to Karl Ott, a Lt. of the Reserve, the American was turned over to Gendarmeriekommandant Georg Haupt of Unterschwaningen, Germany. Later that afternoon Georg Kohnlein, Hans Stum, Ernst Itaner and Fritz Stingler took the pilot from the cell and transported him to the Wasenstrudingen Kreisleitmeister and from there to the prison cell in the town hall. At the afternoon conference wherein Itaner, Kattmger, Stingler, Stum and Kohnlein participated, it was agreed that the latter four would remove the pilot from the jail that evening. After being beaten, the pilot was taken by car to Kattmger’s house where shovels were obtained. Along the Schitzing road the car was stopped and all alighted and walked to the edge of a pasture. There the pilot, whose hands were tied behind his back, was struck on the head with Kattmger’s shovel. Stum delivered two such powerful blows that his shovel broke. Kohnlein then fired one or two pistol shots into the pilot’s body. The corpse was carried into a nearby wood and buried in a water filled grave.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 1 November 1944, an American airman parachuted from his disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of BAD SALZTUNDEURTH, Germany. Max Bruno GARMANN, Commanding Officer of No. 1 Polizei Landesschutzkommission Co., BAD SALZTUNDEURTH, ordered about 20 to 25 of his men to search for the airman. The airman was promptly captured and turned over to GARMANN who ordered all persons except members of his company to leave the scene. He called for volunteers from his company to shoot the airman. When no one volunteered GARMANN ordered five of his men Heinrich HAHN, Friedrich KNOER (Nov), Heinrich ADLER, Willi DEIBERSTEIN, and Josef HUTTER to form a firing squad. As they were lined up, GARMANN said: "I give the order that this man is to be shot", or words to that effect. Thereupon he commanded: "Take aim — fire". This was done and the airman, who was standing in a gully with his arms over his head, fell to the ground dead or wounded. ADLER then fired a final shot into the head of the airman to make sure of his death. GARMANN stated in his confession that he ordered the killing pursuant to secret superior orders to the effect that all captured airmen would be destroyed insured to him by one Major (now) KEHMAUS, former police commander of the Hannover Eastern District.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 9 June 1944, a United States airman parachuted from his disabled plane and landed in a tree near the house located at 101 Tangenstrasse, WALDRUBRING, Germany. Michael HUBER and Anna VISEL helped the pilot release himself from his parachute whereasupon the flyer raised his hands in a gesture of surrender. HUBER took the pilot’s pistol and knife from his belt and took the flyer to the basement in the house at 101 Tangenstrasse. The airman was uninjured except for a slightly sprained ankle. A escort of the airman’s capture was sent to the Ortgruppenleiter, and shortly thereafter Ortgruppenleiter Josef BAYERER, Matthias STARFLINGER and a driver, Richard MAYER, arrived at 101 Tangenstrasse in an open vehicle. The airman was placed in the rear seat of the vehicle between STARFLINGER and MAYER. The vehicle under the direction of BAYERER proceeded to the Kohfelder Forest near WALDRUBRING, Germany. The vehicle was stopped in the forest by BAYERER and the airman and MAYER dismounted and started marching into the forest. Approximately ten meters from the vehicle, MAYER took his pistol from the holster and shot and killed the American airman.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

An essential function of the Reich Ministry of Foreign Affairs and its representatives, including Otto von Eckmannsdorf, was to coordinate and execute the extermination policy against non-German Jews, and to press satellite and other governments to adopt and carry out the genocidal policy against the Jews of Europe. In his capacity as Deputy Chief of the Political Division, von Eckmannsdorf played an important role in this function and shares in the responsibility for the acts, conduct, plans and enterprises which led to millions of Jews victimizing nationalities, without regard to sex, age, being ruthlessly seized in their homes, on the streets, and in their places of employment, and deported under inhuman and inhumane conditions to concentration camps controlled by the infamous central economic and administrative department of the SS (V3S). Persons in the established locations for the purpose of extermination, the victims' rights were trampled on, their properties confiscated; the physically weak were brutally worked out and murdered. Jews—male and female—were utilized as slave labor in concentration camps worked and usually worked to the limits of human endurance. Those who did not die under these conditions were liquidated.

Decision of Committee I:
S: for crimes against peace and for murder, ill-treatment, deportation of civilians, forced labor of civilians in connection with military operations of the enemy, and employment of prisoners of war on unauthorized works.
Dear Dr. Litawski:

Enclosed herewith please find U. S. charges against General Hermann Hoth who is to be tried soon at Nurnberg. I realize that the charges as transmitted to us from Nurnberg do not conform to the present regulations of Committee I for "A" Listing. However, I understand that the Nurnberg authorities desire listing as soon as possible, and I therefore propose that General Hoth either be listed "A" with the understanding that the copy of the indictment setting out the full particulars of evidence will be filed at a later time, or the General could be listed on "S". It would appear that the charge is sufficiently substantiated for an "S" listing.

Yours sincerely,

Earl W. Hinther
Deputy United States Commissioner
United Nations War Crimes Commission

Enclosure: 1
U.S. Charge No.485 (5 copies)

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Prior to 1 September 1939 Hoth was Commanding General of the XV Army Corps and in that capacity participated in the planning of the attack on Poland and in the actual attack. Thereafter, he planned the invasion of the Low Countries and participated in those aggressions. As Commanding General of that Corps, a constituent of Army Group Center, he participated in the preparation for and the actual invasion of the U.S.S.R. Thereafter, on 5 October 1941, he became Oberbefehlshaber of the 17th Army and on 15 May 1942 of the 4th Panzer Army, continuing in those capacities to wage war against the U.S.S.R. until his retirement on 10 December 1943.

Arms against Peace

Prior to 1 September 1939 and thereafter until his retirement on 10 December 1943, Hoth was active in the planning, preparing, initiating and waging of wars of aggression against Poland, Holland, Luxembourg, Belgium and the U.S.S.R. He bears criminal responsibility for such actions pursuant to the Judgment of the I.M.T., the London Agreement, Control Law No. 10, and numerous conventions and agreements.

War Crimes

Hoth, as Commander in Chief of Panzer Group 3, the 17th Army and the 4th Panzer Army, participating in the campaign against the U.S.S.R., bears responsibility for numerous war crimes committed by troops under his command, some of them by his specific order and a great many with his specific knowledge. Such crimes include the murder, ill treatment, deportation to slave labor and the employment at prohibited labor of civilians and F.W.s. By way of example only, the 239th Infantry Division of the 17th Army on 16th October 1941 reported the execution of 3 captured political commissars. On 21 September 1941 the 3d Panzer Army reported the shooting of 4 U.S.S.R. F.W.s. Collective penalties were imposed in violation of the Hague Convention and numerous buildings and villages were destroyed without military necessity. Exterminations and persecution of Jews in Hoth's command area were frequent. All these enumerated acts were in violation of law and are criminally punishable, and include only a part of the provable charges.
The particulars specified in the preceding sections are proved by documents in the possession of OCCWO and include official government reports, German army orders and statements of witnesses.
NOTES ON THE CASE

(Under this heading should be included the view taken as to (a) the degree of responsibility of the accused in view of his official position, e.g., was offence committed on the offender's own initiative, or in obedience to orders, or in carrying out a system approved by authority or a legal provision; (b) the probable defence; (c) whether the case appears to be reasonably complete.)

a. The accused held positions of great responsibility, commanding at various times an Army Corps, an Army, and an Army Group.

b. The probable defense of the accused can only be that he acted under superior orders. This defense is not valid under the provisions of the applicable laws.

c. The case is reasonably complete. It is contemplated that the accused will be tried with numerous other military leaders, including field marshals and other high ranking generals of the German Army. The principal charges will revolve about the waging of aggressive war and the common plan of such militarists to commit crimes against peace. It is therefore important that all the accused be joined in a common case and particularly so since the crimes charged cannot be geographically limited to one country.

On or about 16 April 1945 at HILDEN, Germany, four United States tanks, attached to the 93rd Cavalry Recon. Sgn., 13th Armored Div. of the US Army, were proceeding west on Ellerstrasse. The leading tank, under command of 2nd Lt. Hugh L. MCDONNIS, went through a railroad underpass and, as it emerged, was hit by panzerfaust fire and set aflame. In preparation for the Battle of the Bulge, Adolf HITLER assembled his army commanders at BAD NAURHED, Germany and exhorted that the decisive hour for the German people had arrived; that the army would have to act with brutality and should evince no humane inhibitions in the forthcoming offensive. This order was relayed to the 6th SS Panzer Army and to subordinate units, to the effect that a wave of terror should precede the troops and prisoners of war must be shot. On 17 December 1944, Germans contacted United States troops; after a brief exchange of gunfire the outnumbered Americans surrendered. SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

12-3193D - At meetings held in STUTTGART and KARLSRUHE, Germany in summer of 1944, attended by representative police chiefs of Wehrkreis 5 and presided over by General Kurt PETERSDORF, commandant of all regular police and gendarmerie in said Wehrkreis, an order was given by PETERSDORF that captured allied airmen were to be handed over to the Nazi party representative. General EKERMANN confirmed this order to attending police officials. FUERBOECK received direct orders from SS Colonel LENDEN, Chief of Alsace SS, directing that all airmen who were captured should be liquidated. FUERBOECK transmitted these orders to Kreisfuehrers HAAK, TISCHMANN, TRIESCH and HOFFMANN. All gendarmerie and Kreisfuehrers were instructed concerning the exact steps to be taken by the police after the capture of allied airmen, so that murder details would be formed by the SS or Kreislitungen.

11-519 - On or about 21 July 1944, a United States airman, parachuted near EBBENHEIM, France. He was turned over to gendarmerie Lt. Viktor PHILIPP, who reported the capture to gendarmerie Kreisfuehrer HAAK. HAAK ordered HUTSCHLOR to...

kill the airman and ordered PHILIPP to go with MUTSCHLER. PHILIPP and MUTSCHLER took the flyer in the car of PHILIPP and stopped at the police station in MUTTERSHOLTZ where they picked up Karl GULMANN, and the murder party proceeded to the woods of MUTTERSHOLTZ where PHILIPP, GULMANN and MUTSCHLER walked the flyer into the forest. MUTSCHLER fired three or four shots in the flyer and while the wounded flyer was on the ground, MUTSCHLER again fired his pistol this time into the head of the flyer.

11-584-1 — The parent case was tried about 30 May 1947 at DACHAU, Germany. Perpetrators ISEMANN and REBEL were found guilty.

On or about 14 August 1944 ISEMANN had custody of a captured United States airman and in compliance with the murder conditions, telephoned headquarters. He then awaited for the arrival of a detail of men who would attend to the liquidation of the prisoner. In line with adopted policy, four or five men appeared at the police station in WOLFSHEIM, and the leader stated to ISEMANN that he was ordered to remove the flyer and kill him. The detail departed with the flyer. The body of the flyer was found the next morning on the outskirts of WOLFSHEIM partly buried. It was found to have a gun shot wound through the left thigh and one through the left temple.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 10 or 14 February 1945, a United States airman parachuted to a tree in front of the entrance to the Auguste Viktoria Hospital, BERLIN, Germany. KAHNERT was 150 to 200 meters away and ran to the place. He was the first to arrive and was followed by BRANDT (FNU). The airman approached him with upraised hands. Ortsgruppenleiter JANNESCH (FNU) searched the airman and he was carried to a bunker. On the way he was beaten by the crowd. While in the bunker, he was spat upon, kicked and beaten. JANNESCH gave KAHNERT a pistol and ordered him to "level" the airman. KAHNERT fired a shot at a distance of 1½ to 2 meters in the left side of the neck near the ear. About thirty minutes later, KAHNERT returned to the scene and fired another shot at a distance of about three meters into the victim's head. The airman was carried to a hospital where he died as a result of the pistol shots.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

At around noon or about 25 April 1945, during the last American air raid on Linz, Austria, an airplane was seen to explode in the air. Several parachutes were seen descending. One particular parachute with a flyer hanging below passed over the courtyard of Harrachstrasse 14, Linz, at an altitude of approximately 100 meters. The flyer was alive, because witness could see him moving his legs and arms and swinging the parachute. The accused STIEBLAUCHER ran into the courtyard and fired approximately 10 shots from a rifle at the descending flyer. The flyer was seen to go suddenly limp and quit moving. He was dead when the parachute reached the ground. Accused went and viewed the body and bragged that he had killed the American.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 4 November 1944, a U.S. airman bailed out of his disabled plane and landed in the vicinity of BAD SALZDETFURTH, Germany, British Zone. Max Bruno GARTMANN, who was the commanding officer of No. 1 Polizei Landesschutzen Company at BAD SALZDETFURTH, ordered some of his men to start a search for the airman. The airman was captured and turned over to GARTMANN, who ordered the civilians present to leave the scene and called for volunteers from his company to shoot the airman. As no one volunteered, GARTMANN ordered Heinrich HAHNE, Friedrich MEYER, Heinrich ADLER, Willi DEHNBOSTEL, and Josef HUTLER to line up and form a firing squad. As they were lined up, GARTMANN said, "I give the order that this man is to be shot" or words to that effect. He then ordered these men to take aim and fire. This was done and the airman fell to the ground, dead or wounded. A final shot was fired into the head of the airman to make sure of his death.

SHORT STATEMENT OF FACTS.

On or about 30 May 1944, a United States airman safely parachuted to earth from his disabled plane at LEIDER-FELDBARK, Germany and was taken prisoner by Wilhelm SCHMIDT and Feldwebel BUSHRIG. BEISE, Burgomester of LEIDER, Germany, arrived at the scene, criticized SCHMIDT and BUSHRIG for not killing the airman and asked "Why do you make him cold?", took the airman and placed him in his car. BEISE then beat the airman causing him to bleed. A bystander struck the airman over the head with a pitchfork. The airman was then taken to BEISE's home and searched. The capture was reported to the HELMSTEDT police who ordered the flyer brought to HELMSTEDT Landratsamt. En route, BEISE told TUGER of the secret orders to kill parachuted airman and tried to induce TUGER to kill the airman. At the Landratsamt, DREIER took the personal data of the flyer and made a written report. DREIER then told TUGER to accompany the airman to a nearby airport installation. MUEGIER and TUGER placed the airman in a car and drove to the woods near HELMSTEDT, and they were immediately followed by BEISE and one POLICEMAN.

At FELDMEIR's signal both cars were stopped at a small trail leading into the woods.

FIELDGASTER and TIMBER marched the airman up a trail into the woods and FIELDGASTER walking close behind the airman shot him. BERNIE left his car and came to the scene and as TIMBER and BERNIE left the scene, FIELDGASTER fired another shot into the airman's body.

b. BEBE will deny any and all participation in the murder and will attempt to place the responsibility for the actual murder on TUGER and PEDAGGER.

On or about 22 February 1945, a US Army bomber was shot down near MUEHLHEIM, Germany, US Zone. Seven members of the crew parachuted to earth. One of the airmen landed with a badly mangled left arm and died shortly thereafter from his wounds. One airman was placed under military guard in a box car at the MUEHLHEIM freight station. JORDAN and WINTER, Franz, went out from the car, secured a board or lathe, approximately one meter long and ten to fifteen centimeters wide, and beat the airman causing him to groan and scream. (a) All of the accused apparently committed the offense on their own initiative.

(b) All accused will minimize force and severity of the blows they struck. To sustain their position in this regard reference will probably be made to a letter written by JORDAN to Polizeigruppenfuhrer STROOP, Police Chief Rhein-Westmark, the day following the assaults. Therein JORDAN berated the MUEHLHEIM police and requested that BOHM be disciplined for having protected the airmen and lamented, "It is almost shameful for the community of MUEHLHEIM that none of the six prisoners had met with any injuries."

(c) The case appears to be reasonably complete.
